Paris Reports Move By Germans to Re-open Reparations Parley

(By United Press Leased Wire) BERLIN, Feb. 3.—Risking their lives, several locomotive engineers today ran the French blockade of the Ruhr valley and hauled trainloads of coal through the lines and into unoccupied territory.

The coal commissioner admitted that the quantity smuggled through the barrier was small.

Details of blockade running are carefully guarded, but it is believed train dispatchers assisted in discovering a way out over some side lines the French had overlooked in drawing their cordon around the valley.

PARIS, Feb. 3.—Germany is trying to re-open negotiations with France over payment of reparations, it was reported today.

The Echo De Paris, said Germany had protested the action of the reparations commission declaring her in voluntary default of payments.

Premier Poincare supported by the entire cabinet, has determined to refrain from participating in such negotiations and to avoid talking with any representatives of Chancellor Cuno until the Ruhr movement has progressed to such a point that German payment is assured.

A "high personage" interviewed by the Echo De Paris said: "I believe we will be so successful that we will be able to resume sending coal to France from the Ruhr in the next five or six days and then we will increase the shipments progressively. We have only begun to organize."

Newspapers at Mayence have published appeals to the French that the fines imposed on Fritz Thyssen and other industrial magnates for their refusal to obey orders be cancelled forthwith.

EARTHQUAKE WRECKS RECORDING NEEDLE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—An earthquake shock of unusual intensity was recorded on the seismograph of Georgetown university shortly before 1 o'clock today.

Father Tondorf, in charge of the instrument, has not yet computed the distance from Washington. One of the needles was thrown off the recorder by the shock.

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The earthquake recorded on seismographs of the country was figured 4000 miles northeast of Chicago by the weather bureau here today.

The tremors were the most violent ever recorded by the local instruments and were still in progress late this afternoon.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Feb. 3.—An earthquake shock of moderate intensity was recorded today at Marquette university seismograph. According to Father John Kremer, the shock took place at 10:30 a. m. and occurred about 3,000 miles south of Milwaukee.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Feb. 3.—The earthquake recorded on the seismograph at the St. Louis university was the most severe ever recorded here. Brother George E. Ruppel, in charge of the instrument, said today, "It was noticeably stronger than that which shook San Francisco in 1906." Brother Ruppel's figures placed the quake in Chile.

Scientist Announces Success In Hunt For Influenza Germ

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., Feb. 3.—The influenza germ has been isolated, according to Dr. Simon N. Flexner of the Rockefeller Institute.

He announced, in an address here, that the infinitesimal bacillus which has caused millions of deaths throughout the world has been definitely located by scientists. It is so small that, magnified 1,000 times, it can scarcely be seen with a powerful microscope.

The next phase is the perfection of an anti-toxin to balk the ravages of the disease, which again is prevalent in America.

ASKS FACTS ON EMBASSY WET GOODS

Solons Calls on Secretaries Mellon and Hughes for Information on Booze Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A resolution designed to expose the liquor situation here as it relates to foreign embassies, was introduced in the house today by Representative Cramp-ton, Michigan.

Secretary Mellon is called upon for complete details on all importations of liquor for the diplomatic corps since the dry law went into effect three years ago, and the regulations governing such importation.

The state department is asked what regulations have been adopted governing diplomatic liquors and in what manner embassy attaches receiving liquor consignments are identified.

APPROPRIATION BILLS GIVEN APPROVAL

(By United Press Leased Wire) SACRAMENTO, Feb. 3.—Governor Richardson today signed three appropriation bills passed by the legislature before the recess adjournment.

One is for $205,900 to complete the state building in San Francisco. Another carries an appropriation of $66,800 to finish the state printing plant in Sacramento, while the third is for $31,800 to meet a deficiency in the appropriation for printing and distributing constitutional amendments last fall.

Mrs. Nellie B. Pierce, member of the state board of control, left Sacramento today for a tour of the state institutions in Southern California.

The exodus of lawmakers started before noon yesterday and by the time the legislature adjourned, the late-afternoon, hardly enough remained to make and second the motion for adjournment.

A few last-minute bills were introduced during the afternoon. Assemblyman Badaracco presented his anticipated measure aimed at the Ku Klux Klan, making it a felony to wear masks or disguises in public, except at social events. Few of the other late bills were of interest.

FEAR FUNDING PLAN CONTAINS 'SLEEPER'

(By United Press Leased Wire) WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Congressional leaders today were investigating a clause said to be in the British debt funding agreement by which Great Britain can pay part of the debt in Liberty bonds.

Some members of congress were inclined to believe that through this clause, Great Britain could buy large quantities of Liberty bonds now slightly below par, get 4-4 per cent on them, and then use these in interest receipts to pay the three per cent interest on its debt with a surplus remaining. Thus the United States, some members claim would be paying part of the British interest.

It was admitted that the bonds would have to be bought in the open market, and that any extensive buying would cause Liberties to rise above par.

BORAH FACES HOT BATTLE IN SENATE

Administration Plans to Snow Under Solons Parley Proposal

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—Administration leaders in the senate have passed word that the Borah economic conference resolution must be given a thorough beating with a record vote that will show a majority of the senate standing firmly with President Harding and Secretary Hughes on international policy.

The administration has also decided that Secretary Hughes will not submit to cross examination before the senate foreign relations committee.

For this reason Senator Lodge will deny the request of Senator Robinson, Democrat, that Hughes be asked to appear before the committee next week for questioning on the activities of Roland W. Boyden and his associates on the American unofficial delegation to the reparations committee.

These two developments mark a definite change in the administration attitude, as reflected in the senate, toward men in either party who are attempting to force American action in connection with the European situation.

Heretofore administration leaders maintained a defensive attitude; now they will take the offensive.

One reason, it was indicated today, is that the administration has begun to feel the popular reaction caused by Borah's demand for an economic conference and desires to counteract it.

This reaction has caused Senators Lodge and Watson to urge President Harding repeatedly to make a public statement to the country telling why it is impossible for this government to intervene now in any way in Europe.

President Harding has decided to go further than express his opinion in pointed fashion to the weekly conference of Washington newspaper men.

REDISTRICTING DOOMED, SAYS DR. BALL

California reapportionment seems doomed to failure at this session of the legislature.

The governor's budget will go through.

The bill for education in the detention homes will be favorably reported out of committee immediately after the recess.

These statements were made here this afternoon by Assemblyman Dr. C. D. Ball, who today returned from Sacramento to spend the month's recess in Santa Ana.

The fate of reapportionment now stands or falls with the compromise constitutional amendment which proposes the so-called New York plan, said Dr. Ball.

"There is no question about the constitutionality, or the justice of reapportionment," said Dr. Ball, "but the opposition forces hold the fort and they intend to hold it."

Initiative Loans.

An initiative measure at the next state election is being suggested by the friends of reapportionment who now see nothing but failure at this session.

SPEED PLANS ON HOSPITALS FOR VETERANS

War Department Announces Program Calling for Construction by Spring of 1924

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—A complete building program for five new hospitals for ex-service men suffering from mental and nervous diseases, has been completed by the construction service of the quartermaster corps, it was announced by the war department today.

The first hospital will be turned over to the veterans bureau next September while the others will have been completed not later than the spring of 1924.

The location of these hospitals are: Northampton, Mass.; Chillicothe, Ohio; Knoxville, Iowa; American Lake, Wash., and Camp Custer, Mich.

POLICE CHARGE DRY SLEUTHS WITH PLOT

(By United Press Leased Wire)

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—Far reaching shake up in the San Francisco police department or a bitter war between police and prohibition agents—those were the possibilities seen today in the arrests of three policemen and seven civilians yesterday by dry agents, charged with liquor smuggling.

Lieut. D. H. Brasfield and Patrolmen Mark Willever and William Barton, the three policemen arrested signed statements to Chief of Police O'Brien declaring they had the alleged smugglers under arrest when prohibition agents swooped down upon them, disarmed and arrested them.

The three were suspended late yesterday by Chief of Police O'Brien, pending an investigation.

While the police turned their attention toward clearing up any reflections upon their department, prohibition agents tried to trace the whereabouts of the two masked auxiliary schooner from which seven truck loads of liquor were being landed when the raid was made. The schooner slipped away in the darkness and has not been found.

In the background some saw possibility that a series of reprisals between "dry" agents and the state authorities may be in progress. It was recalled by many that on New Year's Eve San Francisco police arrested two dry agents in the act of raiding an Italian restaurant for violating the traffic laws. This was followed by charges of assault made in Los Angeles against C. H. Wheeler, prohibition agent from San Francisco.

Then, yesterday, came the sensational arrest by prohibition agents of the three San Francisco policemen.

EGYPT THUG VICTIM KNOWN IN PASADENA

(By United Press Leased Wire) PASADENA, Feb. 3.—Traverse Allen, Montreal, killed by robbers at Luxor, Egypt, Tuesday night, was well known in this city, having visited here last summer just before starting on his present trip to the Valley of the Kings.

Allen and his brother, James B. Allen, of this city, left Cairo on November 27 for Luxor, where they planned to spend two months witnessing the work of excavation being supervised by Lord Carnarvon. Fisher Joy of this city has just received a letter from James B. Allen, stating the two men intended to sail for America early in March.

Traverse Allen was 45 years old, unmarried. No details regarding his death have been received here, except the bare statement that the remains will be sent to Montreal for burial.

REGISTERED MAIL LOOT IN THEFT

Bold Burglary Is Laid to Gang Credited With Series of Crimes

Coming as a climax to a series of burglaries in Fullerton extending over the past few weeks, robbers last night after 10 o'clock made their way into the post office there, by means of breaking a panel in the rear door, and escaped with loot consisting largely of registered mail and a small amount of cash from the till.

Postal inspectors today were expected to arrive from Los Angeles to take charge of the investigation.

Officers believed, according to reports received in Santa Ana today, that the crime was committed by the same men who, last week-end, entered and robbed five Fullerton residences and a filling station, procuring valuables and money in excess of $5000. No arrests were made. Two men were seen leaving the city in a Chevrolet car but no trace has been found of them.

Planned to Blow Safe. That the men concerned in last night's robbery originally intended to blow open the safe but changed their minds after gaining entrance to the building, was the belief of the Fullerton local police. A crowbar, identified as having been taken from the Santa Fe railroad sheds, was found back of the post office building. The men had smashed in a part of the rear door, reached in and released the catch.

W. A. Hoskins, a mail clerk, completed his work and left at 9:30 o'clock. He said he saw no suspicious characters about the building.

P. O. Force Cut Down. The theory that the robbers were men conservant with local conditions was strengthened, the police said, by the fact that the postal force in Fullerton was depleted on account of a mild influenza epidemic. Postal assistants are not able to be at the office on account of the disease and only three regular members of the staff have been on duty of late.

Mail sacks were ransacked, personal mail boxes were robbed and the cash tills were emptied and shifted, postal officials said. It was not known whether war savings stamps or liberty bonds in any quantity were obtained.

The amount of cash in the tills was said to be very small.

CALL GUARDSMEN TO QUELL STRIKE RIOTS

CORBIN, Ky., Feb. 3.—National guardsmen rushed here today as the situation resulting from a gun battle between special guards and employees of the Louisville and Nashville railroad slipped from the control of local officials. A special policeman and a Louisville and Nashville switchman were slain in the fighting on the streets here Tuesday. Two others were wounded.

NAB FOUR SUSPECTS IN NARCOTIC RAID

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—State and federal anti-narcotic law enforcement agents today raided a room in a downtown hotel and arrested Kenneth Cook, Leslie Cox, John O'Connell and Rado Salgiam, charged with violating the Harrison anti-narcotic law.

Investigation of the theft of a supply of narcotics from a drug store recently led the officers to raid the room.

A large amount of morphine was seized.

SAVANNAH PLANS TO WELCOME RHINE ARMY

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 3.—Preparations for the celebration which will welcome back to the United States the Eighth United States infantry—the last of the American army watch on the Rhine—were being rushed here today.

The troops are scheduled to arrive Wednesday on the army transport St. Mihiel. The German wives of sixty-six soldiers also are on the transport.

Desert Workers Near Resting Place Of Ancient Monarch

LUXOR, Egypt, Feb. 3.—High winds and sand storms that swept over the ruins of the ancient burial places of the Pharaohs diminished crowds of tourists witnessing excavation of King Tut-Ankh-Amen's tomb today.

Only a few articles were brought out of the echoing chambers yesterday. They included pieces of jewelry, a wooden gold inlaid model of Tut-Ankh-Amen and parts of a chariot.

Excavation continued today despite the storm that pelted sharp grains of sand into the faces of tourists and workers.

The excavators expect to penetrate the inner chambers of the tomb where the body of the king is supposed to repose, shortly.

PRESS DRAW HOT ATTACK FROM SOLON

Newspaper Representatives in senate Arouse Ire of Democratic Senator.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 3.—An attack on the newspaper representatives in the press gallery of the senate was made today by Senator Heflin of Alabama, Democrat, who was twice called to order by the senate Friday for remarks made on the floor.

Heflin declared no newspaper account of his activities "contained the whole truth."

A clear intimation was given by Heflin that "if this thing continues," he would make an effort to bar "representatives of the subsidized press" from the gallery.

MEXICANS SHIP 'LITTLE PHIL' TO STATES

(By United Press Leased Wire)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—Under secretary of the Interior Valenzuela today advised the United Press that "Little Phil" Alguin, alleged slayer of Detective Sergeant John J. Fitzgerald of Los Angeles has been taken to Tampico by two government agents and placed in irons aboard a tanker, and is now en route to Galveston to be turned over to American authorities.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—Chief of Police Oaks was preparing today to leave for Galveston, Texas, where it is reported "Little Phil" Alguin, alleged slayer of Detective John J. Fitzgerald during a raid on a rendezvous of drug peddlers, will be landed.

Chief Oaks declared he is waiting official word from Mexico regarding the boat on which "Little Phil" sailed in irons from Vera Cruz and definite information that it is to dock at Galveston.

The long chase, lasting a year and a half with undiminished vigor, to bring Fitzgerald's slayer into the hands of the law entered its final stage when President Obregon of Mexico ordered his deportation.

ROUT GHOULS FROM GRAVE OF SOLDIER

(By United Press Leased Wire)

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—An attempt had been made to rob the grave of James Jones, in which Russian crown jewels valued at $5,000,000 are reported hidden, Special Treasury Agent W. H. Williams revealed today.

Williams said that sentries at the grave which is in the national cemetery in Brooklyn, saw a group of men trying to approach it. Several of the men were inside the cemetery fence while others could be dimly discerned in the dark outside.

The sentries challenged the suspicious characters whereupon they fled. It is reported they were equipped with shovels and other paraphernalia for opening the grave.

KILLED PARK SWAN.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 3.—John Raymond was remanded to the custody of the sheriff today on charge of having killed a swan in Golden Gate park, when he was unable to furnish $10,000 bail.

DARING FUGITIVE SLIPS FROM TRAP

Mexican Secret Service Sleuth Close On Trail of Murderess

(By United Press Leased Wire)

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 3.—The Mexican department of the interior today projected itself into the case of Clara Phillips, "hammer murderess" declared to be in Chihuahua City.

The minister of the interior wired the governor of Chihuahua state asking him for information concerning the young woman, who is wanted in Los Angeles where she broke jail after conviction of the murder of Alberta Meadows.

If the Mexican officials capture Clara she will be deported, not because she is a convicted murderess but because she violated immigration laws in coming into Mexico, Valenzuela Las, under-secretary of the interior, told the United Press.

WOOLWINE REVEALS PLANS FOR CLARA'S CAPTURE (Copyright 1923 by United Press) LOS ANGELES, Feb. 3.—The inside story of the negotiations for capture of Clara Phillips, escaped hammer murderess, was revealed today.

Before Clara fled from Juarez to the interior of Mexico plans had been completed by the district attorney's office here for her unofficial deportation to the United States. Mrs. Phillips was under surveillance in Juarez and was to be paid across the Rio Grande by adult adventurers in exchange for the release of three Mexican prisoners held in Los Angeles—Herbert Uribe, 25; his wife Catherine, a beautiful French girl and former New York dancer and Ferdinand Uribe.

Offers to Make Trade. Clara's presence in Juarez was discovered by Dr. Uribe, sanitary inspector of that city and the father of the Uribe boys held in the Los Angeles jail charged with joy riding in an automobile which did not belong to them.

Dr. Uribe immediately caused a guard to be thrown around the house where the woman fugitive was living. Then, acting through unofficial sources, he placed before District Attorney Woolwine of Los Angeles the proposition that she would be brought across the Rio Grande and surrendered, provided the boys were released.

"I decided to send Deputy District Attorney Fricke to El Paso to confirm the identification," said Woolwine today. "Fricke prosecuted Mrs. Phillips, knew her well and was empowered to act for me in obtaining her return to this country."

Slips Through Net. "Unfortunately a half hour before Fricke was to leave, it was reported to us the woman had

COLD WAVE SWEEPS TOWARD MID-WEST

(By United Press Leased Wire)

CHICAGO, Feb. 3.—The entire country east of the Rocky mountains will be in the grip of a cold wave by tomorrow, the Chicago weather bureau predicted today.

Temperatures ranging as low as twenty degrees below zero were reported from the Northwest today as the cold swept eastward. The cold will grip the lower Lake region, the Ohio valley, Tennessee and the interior, the bureau states, by tonight and cover the Atlantic coast by tomorrow.

Milwaukee reported the lowest temperature since 1920 today at 11 below zero and the thermometer is still dropping. Minnesota and the Dakotas were in the grip of zero weather. St. Paul reported 17 below. Snow and high winds will accompany the cold wave in the Northwest and rain and sleet in the Southwest, the weather bureau said.

SON OF E. C. PHILLIPS ON WAY TO RECOVERY FOLLOWING OPERATION

The condition of little Richard Phillips, 4-year-old son of Ernest Crozier Phillips, was reported improved today after several days in which the lad was reported to have been in a dangerous condition.

Undergoing an appendicitis operation January 26, the little fellow suffered a serious relapse and a second operation was necessary before his recovery could be assured.

The attending physician today reported that the boy was now on the road to recovery, although his convalescence would be slow.

ADDS PRIZE BIDDIES TO FLOCK AT ORANGE

Adding three Imperial strain fowls to his pens, C. J. Andren, poultry raiser at 755 West Chapman avenue, Orange, today had received two pedigreed hens and a cockerel from the Tancred farms, Kern, Wash.

The mother of the cockerel, the pedigree shows, was a 281-egg biddy, while the grandmother had an egg record of 287. For seven generations this strain has never fallen below 200 eggs. The highest production attained was 299 eggs. The fowls are white leghorns from the Imperial mating pens of the Tancred farms. The hens were trapped last year, setting a 251 and 294 egg mark.

CLARA FACING DEPORTATION FROM MEX.

again eluded watchers, due to her powerful friends. Since then we have been waiting word that she had been put under surveillance once more so identification could be made. It is very unfortunate that she got away but I am sure the Mexican government will act to bring her to justice.

Dr. Uribe wrote to his sons in jail here that he had positively located and identified Mrs. Phillips and would act to put her over the river to get them out of prison.

At the time that Dr. Uribe was negotiating with the Los Angeles authorities, two other groups of men were attempting to seize Clara and put her over the line, as a large reward was offered for her apprehension.

OFFICIAL READY TO REVEAL WHEREABOUTS OF CLARA

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 3.—"Immediately after my boys, Herbert and Fernando, are assured of release in Los Angeles and I know that the word pledged me is being kept, I will tell a representative of District Attorney Woolwine the street and house number in Chihuahua City where Clara Phillips may be found. It is then up to him to act through the President."

This was the statement to the United Press this afternoon of little Dr. J. R. Uribe, the "most powerful influence in Chihuahua state," as he is called there.

Tells of Agreement
"I have nothing to gain by this," he declared. "My boys go free when little Phil Alguin is captured. That is the agreement with the Chief of Police. I act in the Clara Phillips matter in addition only to show the Americans that I keep my word."

"Two weeks ago when I first knew that Clara Phillips, who is an undesirable American, was in hiding in Juarez, I promised that should my boys, who are guilty of nothing essentially criminal, be given a fair deal in Los Angeles, I would aid in the efforts to deport her and also Alguin."

"Now you have Alguin. You will also have your Clara Phillips. The woman cannot escape me. My friends throughout the state of Chihuahua and further into Mexico are aiding me. If she leaves Chihuahua City, she leaves only under constant surveillance. That this woman is Clara Phillips and that she is engaged in a drug traffic which reaches to Los Angeles it is self-evident."

Surrounded by Gang
"It was never quite possible for me to reach her during her days in Juarez. She was surrounded by as strong a gang of criminals as has ever gathered here."

I knew, through my friends, that she was the guest for a time of a prominent citizen out of whose private home it would be impossible to seize her.

"Then she disappeared into the underworld. There she could have stayed, with the criminals about her, safely for an indefinite time."

"But she made her mistake when she left Chihuahua City. She cannot escape now."

"I will send proper officers, agents for newspapers which offer rewards for news, to her when the Americans show me that I have not been fooled."

Foe of Criminals
Dr. Uribe, among the most esteemed of Juarez citizens, is known as a deadly foe of the criminal element which centers in the border city.

He is actively engaged in a war on drug smuggling, and is considered the best informed man in the city in underworld affairs because of his position as head of the Liberator hospital, where many criminals go for treatment, and as "sanitary inspector" of the city, which position is one with powers of a small "czar."

COURT RETAINS MAN'S WATCH AS SECURITY

J. B. Dixon, defendant in a case that the Long Beach Trust and Savings bank brought against him, over which supplementary proceedings were held before Superior Judge Z. B. West, was without a valuable gold watch today, as a result of those proceedings.

Attorney Thomas McFadden had served an execution upon Dixon, whose trucks were being attached as a result of a contract involving him and the plaintiffs.

In court yesterday, McFadden asked Dixon concerning his financial status, and learned that he had little.

"Have you any money in your pockets?" the attorney asked. The reply was in the negative. "What have you of value?" was the next question.

"A gold watch," the defendant replied.

McFadden asked that the watch be delivered up on the execution. The court so ordered, and Clerk Earl Abbey, "frisking" the man removed the timepiece.

"The court will keep this until you meet the terms of the execution," Judge West declared.

FIX STATUS OF JUDGES

HELENA, Mont., Feb. 3.—To decide whether Dan F. Shea, blind police judge of Butte is qualified, appeal by Butte city authorities to the state supreme court was argued here. For the four days the blind judge was in Helena last fall taking the state bar examination, Butte refused to pay him.

Shea obtained a judgment for his full salary for the month in district court in Silver Bow county, from which Butte appealed. There are three justices of the peace in Silver Bow county who are blind.

TRACTOR SCHOOL AT ANAHEIM IS CLOSED

Tractor school, held at the O. P. Rust ranch at Anaheim this week, closed today and E. J. Stirnman, Agricultural Extension service specialist, and his assistants, R. B. Lundy, and W. W. Barbee, packed their equipment back on the two-ton truck that carries them from county to county.

W. M. Coffey, assistant farm advisor of Orange county, declared that despite the inclement weather experienced during the week the school kept the farm-students busily engaged.

Many tractor owners took their machines to the school for overhauling under supervision of Stirnman and his assistants, saving themselves large repair and mechanics' labor bills, they said.

As the last class ended, the pupils shook hands with Stirnman and told him his work was so good they intended to enroll again next year.

service. This operative, who had Clara under surveillance in Juarez is close on her trail. He is also in touch with Mexican government officials who stand ready to deport Mrs. Phillips on a charge of entering the country in violation of immigration laws.

This Mexican secret service agent identified the fugitive when she was in Juarez. Others who identified her there are Detectives Joseph Knaus and Ralph Ellis of the El Paso police force, Virgil Brown, former Los Angeles county officer, and John Fitzgerald of the El Paso Post.

In Barroom Dance Hall
Fitzgerald today told of confronting the woman in a Juarez dive, where she admitted her identity.

"I was only a few feet away when Brown and Clara met for the first time in Juarez on the Calle Comercio, the main street of the town. The woman was daintily dressed when Brown came unexpectedly upon her. She wore a light brown coat and in her left hand pocket clutched what appeared to be a small automatic pistol."

"Hello, Brown," she said, "what are you doing here? Are you following me?"

"No, I'm not an officer any more; I'm just bumming around," said Brown. "I'm glad to see you, Clara. I wouldn't harm you for anything in the world."

"The woman jerked his coat open and felt under his lapels for a shield."

Inquires About Peggy
"She asked what he had heard from Peggy Caffee. He told her he hadn't heard anything at all from Los Angeles since he left there early in December."

"When Clara went up the street, we followed her, attempting to find out where she was staying. In a barroom dance hall called the California on Calle Diablo I was tempted to interview her."

"I went over to where she sat and asked if I might buy her a drink."

"You're another of those dicks," she said. "You get away from here or you are going to get killed."

"Two men who were afterwards identified as 'The Scurry Kid' who helped her escape, and Jack Miller, a cousin of hers by marriage, ranged up alongside the table."

Admits Identity
"Then you admit you are Clara Phillips?" I said.

"You're dead right, I'm Clara Phillips," she said, "and there aren't enough bulls in Mexico and the United States to take me out. That's how I stand."

Fitzgerald said he thereupon backed out of the place.

That afternoon an attempt to arrest her failed. Later she was put under surveillance by persons who desired to "trade" her to the United States authorities for the reward or for Mexican prisoners and finally she slipped away to Chihuahua.

NUMEROUS BUSINESS OFFICES HERE FOUND SANS LICENSE, CLAIM

Many business offices in Santa Ana have been found lacking the necessary authority of a city license tax receipt posted in some conspicuous place, according to reports of Special Inspector Ralph Collins, recently sworn into the police department to aid City Clerk E. L. Vegely.

"Where Inspector Collins found businesses operating in this city without proper authority," said Vegely, "he gave the proprietor notice to pay the tax at this office within a specified time."

"If the tax is not paid within that period other measures will be adopted. Inspector Collins has the authority of the city police department to swear to complaints and to make arrests."

seemly to the rural districts and leaves the control of the senate to the cities apportioning the senators throughout the state on the straight population basis.

"The bill, while fair, would not go into effect until 1930, and does not solve the immediate problem and by that time there would be another census," said Dr. Ball in commenting upon the probable defeat of the amendment.

When asked what the general attitude toward the governor's re-election and budget plans was Dr. Ball said:

"Of course, the budget is the governor's 'ipse dixit,' and according to the expression of the people at the last election it matters not what anyone thinks. The budget goes."

"There are many who think that certain retractions will lead to great injury in the state, chief among those, schools, state library and public health."

"Any local bill which carries an increase in salaries or any kind of increased expense is almost automatically doomed to failure."

Dr. Ball's pet bill, providing for public school education in detention homes, will be reported favorably and he anticipates its early passage, he said.

With his pockets fairly bulging with bills to be studied and discussed with his constituency, Dr. C. D. Ball, assemblyman, returned here this morning from Sacramento for the month's recess.

Stepping off the train into his car, he rushed to San Juan Capistrano on a professional call which was waiting for him on his arrival and was to return to Santa Ana this afternoon.

He will return to Sacramento March 5 with the reconvening of the legislature for the last half of the session.

Accompanying the assemblyman were Mrs. Ball and their daughter, Miss Arvilla Ball.

Senator and Mrs. Walter Eden are driving here from Sacramento to their new home in Los Angeles, it is understood.

FIGHT AGAINST STRAY DOGS CONTINUES

Although it has been almost three weeks since the death at the local hospital of a man infected with hydrophobia the war on stray dogs which might possibly be carrying the dread germ has not relaxed and indications were today that it would be pushed vigorously through the entire month, if necessary.

Police officials over Orange county declared they would not lessen their efforts to stamp out the rabies scare until they had been so ordered by the county health authorities.

Constable A. F. Langford, whose jurisdiction extends over El Modena, Villa Park and Olive, reported this morning that he had killed six dogs and that others would be slain if not muzzled at once.

"The people in the outlying districts treat the edict against loose dogs as a joke," he declared. "It isn't a joke and when some of these people find their pet bowfowls in the custody of officers they will begin to realize that the situation is serious."

City Marshal M. E. Jemison of Orange has killed more than half a dozen dogs during the past week and is doing all possible to rid his city of animals that might endanger pedestrians. Untagged dogs are killed without question in Orange.

"The number of people in the county undergoing treatment by means of anti-rabies injections, to prevent the possible development of rabies germs is not definitely known, although county health officials are said to have more than twenty cases under their personal attention. Several private physicians are understood to be administering anti-toxin to persons who believe they have been exposed."

Officials are loath to set any definite date for the lifting of the ban, rather taking the position that the work of ridding the county of stray dogs is one that should be carried out whether there is acute danger of hydrophobia, it was said.

Only when all danger is past will there be any relaxation in the enforcement of the edict, according to officials.

WOMAN'S BRAVERY IN FIRE REWARDED

Giving recognition to the presence of mind and bravery of Mrs. Alice Flint in extinguishing a fire that occurred at El Modena recently, the officers of a local insurance company have extended to her a vote of thanks, accompanied by a check for $50, it was learned today.

The fire occurred January 31 in a house owned by W. R. Minton, of Calway, Fresno county, and situated on Santiago boulevard, El Modena.

Mrs. Flint's hands were severely burned in extinguishing blazing shades and curtains. But for her prompt action the fire in a few moments would have reduced the house and its contents to ashes, thereby causing an approximate loss of $2000, it was stated.

Due to Mrs. Flint's heroic efforts the loss was merely nominal. The fire was caused by a heating stove being placed too close to the window curtains.

Mrs. Flint had no interest in the property, beyond that of caretaker during the absence of the renters of the premises, who now are in Honolulu.

NEWS BRIEFS

Voters at Huntington Beach visited the polls there today and cast ballots on the proposal to issue $250,000 in bonds for school purposes.

Don McMillan, farmer here, today had on file in the United States district court, Los Angeles, a petition in bankruptcy, in which he gave his debts as $5,866.12 and his assets as $50, according to word received here.

"The Value of Consistent Production" was the subject of a talk made by Guy J. Gilbert of Santa Ana, before the Life Underwriters' association of Los Angeles, meeting in Los Angeles yesterday. Gilbert, as a representative of the Lincoln Life Insurance company, has a record of 415 consecutive weeks of production. That is, each week for 415 weeks he has written at least one new policy. It was this record that caused him to be asked to take a place on the convention program. Several life insurance writers from this county attended the meetings.

Sincere in his praise of the new Tustin high school, Edwin F. Whedon, secretary-manager of the Orange county farm bureau, told today of the successful meeting of the Tustin farm center held there last night. D. W. Tubbs, president of the center, had secured E. J. Strimmar, agricultural engineering specialist, for an illustrated lecture on farm devices. The farm center used the high school for its meeting for the first time last night, and held the stereoscopic lecture in a room of the school especially prepared for that purpose Whedon said.

Professor C. J. Booth, dean of Chaffey junior college, is programmed to discuss fertilization experiments and results at the meeting of the Fullerton farm center Monday night. It was announced here today.

Results of research work conducted by experiment station operators and Agricultural Extension service agents will be reviewed at the monthly meeting of the Synthesis club at the Riverside experiment station Monday, H. E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, learned today. "The meeting has been announced as an all-day session," he said. "Lunch will be served at the Hotel Tetley. Long pruning and its adaptation to Southern California conditions will be discussed. Other theses will be given."

Three building permits were issued here today, representing a building value of $2745, making the total for the month 16 permits, calling for $15,635 in buildings; and for the year 180 permits for $354,769 construction work, according to records of W. S. Decker, building inspector.

Frank Purinton, secretary of the Santa Ana Development company and manager of the Grand Central market, was making preparations today to leave tomorrow for Omaha, Des Moines and other points on a business trip. He will be absent one month, he said.

Friends of Mrs. Margaret Niver, 403 1/2 North Broadway, were pleased today when it was learned that, following a major operation at the Anaheim hospital, she had sufficiently recovered to permit her to return home.

The second session of the quarterly meeting of the Free Methodist church for this district, held this afternoon at the local church, was largely attended by members of the church from various sections of the county. The Rev. David McLeod, chairman of the Los Angeles district, preached an inspiring sermon at the church last night and was scheduled to preach again this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. There will be no sessions tonight. The conference will close with services tomorrow evening. The Rev. Mr. McLeod will preach tomorrow morning, at 2:30 and 7:00 p.m.

Suffering from a severe case of influenza, Dr. J. M. Burlew is confined to his home. His condition is not looked upon as serious. Mrs. Burlew stated the patient has been unable to leave his home for the past week.

INJURED PILOT SEEKS $6000 CRASH BALM

Damages and balm for personal injuries, totalling $6,448.72 were sought in a suit brought in superior court here today by H. C. Ellenberger against Miguel Orgando, as a result of a collision on the Huntington Beach-Westminster boulevard last October.

The plaintiff in his automobile was crossing an intersection in a careful manner, he alleged, when the defendant, operating his automobile in a reckless manner, collided with him, damaging his car and seriously injuring him.

A bone in his left leg was shattered and he sustained other but less serious injuries, it was asserted.

The following itemized list of claims was included:
Doctors' bills and hospital expenses, $96.92; salary, lost during incapacity, $735; permanent effect of injuries, $5,000; automobile repairs, $84.30; depreciation and damage to car, $500; damage to clothing, $25.

Attorney L. W. Blodgett represented the plaintiff.

RECITAL BY TENOR ROUSES INTEREST

Musical circles here today were stirred when it was announced that Theo Karle, noted tenor, would appear at the local high school auditorium March 2, under the auspices of Padgham's Brunswick shop, under arrangement with L. E. Behymer, well known Los Angeles impresario.

Further interest was added to the famous singer's visit when it was emphasized that whereas the Padgham shop was guaranteeing the recital for the singer, all the proceeds were to be turned over to the Santa Ana Musical association to aid in defraying the expenses of the concert course of the current season. The course is an unusually high-priced one, it was pointed out.

Noted for his ballads and modern songs, Karle is at the same time considered by numerous critics as standing foremost as an interpreter of operatic arias and the airs from great oratorios.

A large attendance is expected at the forthcoming recital. The accompanist will be Thomas George.

COURSE IN ORIENT ART TO BE GIVEN

A course in Oriental art, it was announced today, is to be given every day at the high school by Miss Evelina Nunn, well known local artist, who has traveled and studied in the Orient.

The course that Miss Nunn will give will be in Japanese brush work and is planned after the instruction she received under the celebrated Japanese artist, Jippo Araki, who is also director of the Imperial Exhibit, Japan.

The course as it will be given every day at the high school at 1:35 p. m. for the entire semester, is open to all persons interested. No special training or ability is required or necessary and no expense is connected with the course except the small cost of materials.

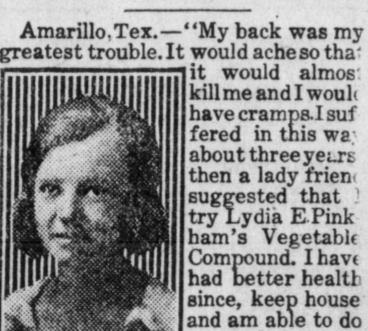

Miss Nunn plans to teach those who enroll the principles of Oriental art as well as the fundamentals of the Japanese brush work and is designing her course to teach appreciation and enjoyment of the artists of the Far East.

Those desiring to enroll in the class, which will begin next Monday, should see Miss Floy Donaldson, in room 5 at the high school, or phone the high school office, 307, or Miss Donaldson's home phone 1612-R.

Going out of business. Everything must be sold regardless of price. The Peoples Store, Garden Grove.

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. Robinson Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Amarillo, Tex.—"My back was my greatest trouble. It would ache so that it would almost kill me and I would have cramps. I suffered in this way about three years when a lady friend suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I have had better health since, keep house and am able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my friends as it has certainly given me great relief."

—Mrs. C. B. ROBINSON, 608 N. Lincoln St., Amarillo, Texas.
The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine for women. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful menstruation, irregularity, tired and worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. Robinson writes as well as by one woman telling another. These women know what it did for them. It is surely worth your trial.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so ill that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties.

William Jennings Bryan's Weekly Bible Talk

The two brief parables of Christ's ministry that we consider today deal with prayer and suggest four lessons—first, the value of opportunity; second, reasons for delay in answer to prayer; third, pompous petitions; fourth, acceptable prayers.

In these two parables Christ again uses that most impressive form of logic, viz., reasoning from the less to the greater. He cites the case of an unjust judge "which feared not God, neither regarded man." As always, He states the case as strongly as words can state it.

The judge used as an illustration ignored the inner monitor—the conscience that prompts us to do that which is in accord with our sense of justice and right. He had disregarded the voice within until its suggestions had become inaudible; his conscience had been "seared with a hot iron." It is quite natural that one who feared not God would be indifferent to his fellow man.

Man is sometimes thoughtless in dealing with his fellows even while he retains in his heart the fear of the Almighty; he does not apply his religion in his daily life. But Christ stated the whole case in regard to this judge; he was entirely beyond the reach of the influences that should control one worthy to be an arbiter of disputes.

No Greater Condemnation for a Judge.

The second party is also selected with a view to making the contrast as strong as possible. She was a widow.

At the present time the widow is a privileged party in court. A man is expected to take care of himself and the married woman is expected to find a sponsor in her husband; but the widow bereft of her natural defender, appeals to the charity of the judge.

No greater condemnation can be spoken against a judge today than that he fails to give special consideration to the appeals of a widow. In ancient times the widow was still more deserving of special consideration.

The widow came unto the judge, begging, "Avenge me of mine adversary." He would not, for a while, give heed to her. If her case had not been an urgent one she would have been wearied by her repeated and unrewarded demands for justice. But, finally, her importunity coerced the judge into action even when the justice of her cause failed to awaken a response.

The judge, actuated by selfishness, merely to get rid of her—lest by her continual coming she weary me—disposed of her case. That is what an unrighteous judge—an unworthy official—would do, purely out of selfishness, to get rid of one whose very persistence was annoying.

And now the contrast: "And shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him, though he bear long with them?"

If an unjust, earthly judge will, from a low motive, finally do justice, will not the Heavenly Father, the embodiment of justice and all the other virtues, avenge those whom He has chosen as His own? Can the cry of God's children be unheeded?

The concluding phrase of Christ's question, "Though he bear long with them?" has given us to different interpretations. One Bible commentator gives two alternative explanations suggested:

"This may mean that God is loth to punish the enemies of His elect, wishing to give even them the longest chance, or that in spite of His delay in answering the prayer of His elect, He loves them and sorrows over them and will vindicate them as soon as His wisdom sees best."

Impatience over delay in answering prayer, especially where the appeal is for the benefit of one's self, always smacks a little of presumption. Our request may be one that should, for our own good, be denied, or answer should, for our good, be delayed. God knows our needs better than we do.

In God's Own Time.

If we mail a letter to a friend across the continent, we do not expect an answer the same day. We calculate the distance between the two places and make allowance for the time required for the mail trains to go to and fro.

In our appeals to the Heavenly Father we do not take into account the distance between God and His children, because prayer gave us a wireless communication with His throne long before man invented the radio. But we should take into consideration the infinite distance that separates the wisdom of God from human wisdom.

We are prone to think that because a thing seems desirable to us it must appear so to an all-wise Heavenly Father. Possibly the difference between the understanding of the child and the understanding of a parent will suggest the width of the gulf between our knowledge and the Father's knowledge.

The lesson invites continued prayer and gives assurance that in God's own time an answer will be given. "It may not be my way, and it may not be thy way; but in His own way, the Lord will provide."

A Contemptible Character.

The second contrast presents a lesson which cannot be misunderstood. The dullest mind does not require extended examination or time for deliberation in considering the difference between the Pharisee and the publican, who "went up into the temple to pray."

What a contemptible character

the Pharisee was, according to the portrait drawn by Christ.

Conceited, bombastic, uncharitable, insincere, insulting—the reader can add any other adjectives that occur to him, with confidence that the picture cannot be overdrawn.

"The Pharisee prayed thus with himself." With himself—not to God. The Heavenly Father was purely incidental to this prayer—the Pharisee's thoughts centered about himself.

"I thank thee that I am not as other men are"—he was in class by himself. He was far above the ordinary run of people, but not so far but that he could get a very clear view of them as he looked down from his self-erected pedestal.

He could see them extorting, dealing unjustly, even given to immortality. To make plain his indictments against these creatures, he regarded as inferior, he pointed to the publican as a little better than the others, but still much below himself.

Boasting Before God.

He (the Pharisee) fasted twice a week. That was more than the law required; but his worship, being a matter of form rather than a matter of the heart, he carried the form to the limit, and told God about it.

He did not forget to refer to his tithes; he was not likely to forget these. This was a formality that, evidently pained him, but he endured the pain, getting such consolation as he could out of boasting of it.

Here, too, Christ made the contrast as strong as it could be made. Here we have a righteous man, measured by a negative standard, making virtue repulsive, even hideous.

"And the publican, standing afar off, would not lift up so much as his eyes into Heaven, but smote upon his breast, saying, 'God, be merciful to me a sinner.'"

Humility could not be carried further. It is expressed in four phrases.

"The publican stood afar off." His sense of sin was so oppressive that he was afraid to come near.

His guilt was so deep that he would not lift so much as his eyes unto Heaven. "He smote upon his breast" so heartfelt was his repentance.

And he gave voice to his plea for forgiveness, "Be merciful to me a sinner."

What a wonderful word picture is here presented Dr. Parkhurst is quoted as saying that "Penitence is heaven's latch key;" it is every where described as the condition precedent to forgiveness, and forgiveness is the beginning of a Christian life.

No other religion offers the hope that Christ holds out to man. No matter to what depth the sinner has fallen, salvation is within his reach. If he will but turn and start upward, he will find a helping hand.

Here again one sees the difference between the negative golden rule of Confucius and the positive golden rule of Christ.

It is not sufficient that one shall abstain from sin; that merely insures against wrong doing. The harmless man may have the kind of perfection that we admire in a graceful statue, but a sinful human being has possibilities that an inanimate statue does not possess. Sins can be forgiven and the energy of a new born soul can make the whole being glow with love and power for good.

The marble hand may be beautifully extended, but it cannot be tendered in helpfulness; better the hand that can aid, even though it be wrinkled with age and calloused with toil. The foot of stone may be the highest expression of art and grace, but it runs on no errands of mercy; better the foot that is worn and bruised by walking if it but tell the story of employment in the Master's cause.

No Yardstick For Man.

The difference between other things can be easily measured; there is an ascertainable ratio between the cheapest and the costliest goods, between the poorest and the finest fabrics, between the worth of the average specimen in animal and vegetable life and the worth of the most valuable.

But there is no yardstick, no measure of meter or mile, between man at his worst and man at his best. He may fall so low as to be a sinner, but he may rise to a height only a little lower than the angels. Not only is this possible, but what is more startling, he is hourly traveling in one direction or the other.

Therefore, the direction must be considered, as well as the altitude at which one stands. Those who are descending will reach the bottom in time; those who are ascending will in time reach the top. One can turn at any point on the way—that is what repentance means.

The Pharisee was moving downward in spite of his self satisfaction. The publican was at the very bottom, but he had laid aside the weights that held him down and was ready.

All the world cannot raise a man until his heart is cleansed; all the world cannot keep him down if, through repentance, he begins the ascent on God's ladder. Christ has made it possible for him to mount to its summit, round by round."

By Eleanor Young Elliott HAVE YOU A PIECE TO PUT IN IT?

Constancy
Last night the moon shone in the purple sky
A glowing ball of frozen silver fire.
I gazed upon it, riding lone and high,
And gave my mind to you and
my desire.
I sent my thoughts of longing love
awing;
I pictured every outline of your face;
In dreams of love, my senses seemed to swing.
And flutter toward you through the realms of space.

Surely—I told myself—you'd heed
the call;
You'd fly to me on wings with lightning tipped;
The silver moon would hold you
in her thrall—
You'd whisper love word which with honey dipped.
You came not. Still the silver moon rode high Like klan ship to breast the ocean's swell.
But ah yet other moons will ride
the sky
And stay!—there will be other loves as well!

Speaking of weather—as who has not recently?
For like Mark Twain's immortal saying, we talk and talk about the weather, but nobody ever seems to do anything about it.
But to go back and begin all over again—Speaking of weather, did you ever see California's usual unusual weather so thoroughly explained before? We are having all of the famous fifty-seven varieties with one or two new ones added for good measure. And aren't we enjoying the remark that it is most unusual?

By the way, since Mark Twain entered this conversation, have you ever read that little bit of verse by Arthur Guiterman which he calls "Divina Commedia"? If not, here it is, and all of you who have known and loved Huck Finn will enjoy it.

Divina Commedia
Beyond the Pileades:
"Your name?"
"Sam Clemens, please."
"Didn't know you. Where in space did you hail from?"
"Earth."

"What place is that?"
"A place for fun."
"Hmp! tell me what you've done."
"Let's see. I wrote Huck Finn—"
"What? Mark! Why, come right in!"

Dear Patchwork Lady:
My Big Brother said that in one of his high school classes yesterday, the teacher asked "what is a triumvirate and his pal Billy's best girl said that it was a three legged animal."

LITTLE SISTER.
"Far be it from me to join the ranks of those who continually preach against the senseless extravagance of youth" writes one who signs herself "K. C. Jones."
"But I did have a sympathetic feeling for Father and Mother as well as a little grin out of the enclosed verses whose authorship I don't know."

The verses K. C. Jones referred to were:
More Truth Than Poetry
Mother works in the kitchen
And kneads the yielding dough.
Father works in the garden;
He also "kneads the dough."
Mary plays in the parlor,
Her music lesson learns,
And eats the cakes
That mother makes
And spends what father earns.

Drama-Short Story
When Mrs. H. J. Frothingham and Mrs. Florence Hawkinson entertained members of the Drama section of Ebells club yesterday at the home of the Mrs. Frothingham on South Ross street, an interesting program was presented.
John Galsworthy's "Loyalty" was the play considered and Mrs.
Mary E. Smith delighted everyone with her able reading of the drama.
In the discussion which followed,
all members took an active part, bringing out many interesting things.

Miss Ruth Frothingham, daughter of the home, gave three lovely vocal selections including "The False Prophet" and "A Rainy Day." Miss Ruth Armstrong was her accompanist.

During the social hour following the program, the hostesses served light refreshments to fifteen members and a small guest group.

Popular Bride-elect To Be Gaily Feted In Former Home

Departing today for Rialto and San Bernardino, Miss Lucile Longmire and her mother, Mrs. Charles W. Longmire, 530 South Ross street, will be guests of old-time friends in that locality during a round of gayeties for Miss Longmire, whose approaching marriage to Burton Wright will be one of February's leading social events.

Today and tomorrow they will be house guests of Mrs. C. G. Milligan, who issued cards about two weeks ago for a large afternoon affair honoring Miss Longmire and which is scheduled for this afternoon.

The spacious Milligan home is not the only one which will be thrown open to honor Santa Ana's bride, for on Monday evening Miss Leone Dredge of San Bernardino is entertaining and other affairs will follow in rapid succession until Miss Longmire's return to this city the latter part of next week.

The engagement of the popular young people was greeted with keen interest in San Bernardino and vicinity, where the Longmire family was one of the pioneer families, the bride-elect's grandmother, Mrs. R. E. Longmire still residing at Highland.

The dramatic talent of Miss Longmire, which Santa Ana has recognized on many different occasions, is one that San Bernardino took special pride in and during her connection with the high school of that city prior to the coming of the family to Santa Ana, she was considered the most talented of Miss Tacie May Hanna's pupils.

It is an open secret among the members of the younger set that just at the time of her graduation from the local high school last June, Miss Longmire was offered a role in the Marshall Nellan production of "Minnie" and refused because of the press of school duties.

Mr. Nellan is an old family friend and hoped to have Miss Longmire trained for the screen under his personal supervision.
But the career of housewife of feted greater charm than any stage or screen career, and late in February she will become the bride of Mr. Wright, who is recognized as one of the city's leading young business men.

Connected with his father,
George L. Wright, in the Wright Transfer company, he is the business manager of the concern.

Announcement of the engagement was of particular interest to members of the sub-deb set who have watched their ranks growing lesser during the present season, when they have given one bride after another to Santa Ana's gay young married set.

boy or girl with the view to aiding in their education and improving their living environment. It was decided at a meeting of the international officers and directors of the club association which closed here. It was also decided to set apart one day each year to ways and means to aid in the fight against narcotics and drug habits.

J. C. Inaugural Dance Is Gayest Affair Of College Year

Of all social events of Santa Ana Junior college year, second in importance only to the faculty reception, is the inaugural dance given to the new officers immediately following their inauguration at assembly.

Last night at the school gymnasium, the annual function was presented and proved to be the most brilliant affair of its kind, in the social history of the college.

Banked with potted palms, the gymnasium offered a tropical setting for the dance and approximately one hundred students gathered to enjoy the evening.

The school orchestra, Allan
Smith, Lester Schroeder, William Luck, Harold Vieira and Loren Cannon, gave an unusually delightful program of music and a number of unusual dances were introduced.

It was a program dance and one of the events was the elimination dance during which numbers were called corresponding to those on small red ribbons held by the dancers. Appropriately enough, the president of the college student body, Claude Hayward, inaugurated with due ceremony at the morning assembly, chanced to hold the final number and with his dancing partner, received a red heart-shaped, box filled with "sweethearts" small candy hearts.

Sharing the honors of the evening with Mr. Hayward were Miss Wilma Plavan, vice-president; Miss Lucy McDermott, secretary; and Martin Gulick, treasurer.

Among faculty members enjoying the affair were Mr. and Mrs.
L. L. Beaman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Northcross, Mr. and Mrs. F. L.
Abbott and the Misses Jennie Las-by Isabel Anderson, Marguerite Tedford and Mabel Whiting.

Aside from "Home Sweet Home," the final dance of the program was an extra in which the girls were awarded candy kisses and in seeking similar confections among the young men present, discovered their dancing partner.

Together with the candies which figured largely in the evening punch and wafers were served.

Quiet Wedding Of Man and Maid Surprises Friends

Taking all their friends and relatives completely by surprise, Miss Martha Elizabeth Rush and Le Roy Alma Starkey were quietly married yesterday and are today honeymooning in San Diego according to the belief of their friends.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Martha Pope Rush of 512
North Parton street while Mr.
Starkey is the son of Mr. and Mrs.
Albert M. Starkey of Orange, his father being head of the Starkey Manufacturing works.

Future plans of the young couple, like their wedding plans, are shrouded in secrecy, but it is an-

Ten Little Maids Enjoy Happy Party

The tenth birthday of Miss Edith Dugdale, young daughter of Mr.
and Mrs. A. T. Dugdale, 1325 Grace street, was celebrated most happily yesterday by Edith and nine of her little friends.

Arranged by Mrs. Dugdale as a surprise, the party hours were from 3:30 to 5:30 and the children, coming from school, had a happy time with games and music.

When they were ushered to the pretty dining-room at the refreshment little pink baskets filled with pink candies, at each place. Centering the table was a beautiful cake whose pink candles were blown out as they expressed their wishes for Edith. Served with the cake were macaroons and Neapolitan ice cream.

Later the young hostess was showered with pretty gifts by her friends who included her two cousins, Bernice and Patricia Smith, Peggy Bronson, Charlene Lowell, Margaret and Lucile Huston, Helen and Martha Hendricks, Beth Dillon and Master Thomas Dugdale, small brother of the guest of honor who enjoyed the party almost as much as did sister.

Series of Dances To Open at Inn Tuesday Night

While tonight will be the regular weekly dinner-dance at St. Ann's Inn, no unusual plans have been made for the affair, according to G. A. Schweiger, manager of the Inn.

Many amusement seekers of the city prefer to drop in for dancing in a truly informal spirit, rather than arrange for reservations before-hand. And there is always provision made for these, according to the management.

Beginning with Tuesday night,
February 6, a new series of dances will be introduced and will continue thereafter weekly. These will be primarily for the younger social set and special music will be provided. Buffet suppers will be served for those who wish refreshments and it is indicated that the young people have adopted the idea with enthusiasm.

One of the first reservations to be made for the affair was that of Miss Ruth Turner, charming de-butante daughter of Mrs. Ben Turner, who will entertain a party of friends on the opening night of the series.

Miss Turner was one of the popular young hostesses during the summer season when the Turner cottage at Laguna rang with gay-ety and youth.

Capistrano Y. L. I.

Invitations have been issued for a pre-Lenten dance which members of Capistrano chapter, Y. L. I. are presenting at Knights of Columbus hall on the evening of February 7 at 8 o'clock.

For those to whom dancing offers no attractions, cards will be provided in the card room and a happy evening is anticipated by both hostesses and guests.

SEE THE MODEL HOME TOMORROW!

Open for Public Inspection from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 9 p. m. at 2675 N. Main

The crowds have been coming this week, but TOMORROW will bring the big rush.
Tomorrow will be the last day for public inspection.

Arrangements have been made to take care of hundreds of visitors. A Windsor Rocker will be given away by The Spurgeon Furniture Company to some one of the visitors. All you have to do to get in on this is to visit the home and register your name.

This is in every respect a model home. From the paint on the outside to the electric wiring between the walls it is a perfect house.

The house was built and planned by I. J. Owens. It was planned with great care, nothing being overlooked in the way of modern features.

The electric wiring and fixtures were installed by the J. G. Robertson Electric Company. This work is a marvel of efficiency.

The paint came from the Santa Ana Paint and Wall Paper Store.

Other materials in this model home have been selected with the greatest care. You will be delighted when you see the blending tones of the furnishings and the perfect balance of the furniture, all artfully selected and arranged for the best possible results.

Whether you want to build, buy a home or merely furnish a house, you'll see many attractive ideas here that are well worth coming to see. Meet your friends here tomorrow afternoon and evening.

STAR HURLER FACES IRVINE TOMORROW

Blaeholder's Pitching May Bring Bean Men Down In Harbor League Race

League Standing	W.	L.	Pct.
Irvine	9	1	.900
El Modena	6	3	.667
S. A. Legion	4	4	.500
Tustin K. P.	4	4	.500
El Toro	4	4	.500
Van Dien-Young Co.	3	5	.375
Newport Beach	2	6	.250
Garden Grove	1	4	.200

Tustin K. P. at Irvine.
El Toro at S. A. Legion.
El Modena at Van Dien-Youngs.
Garden Grove at Newport.

Will George Blaeholder, the young Tustin K. P. pitcher who goes up to the St. Louis Browns for a tryout this spring, be able to stop the crack Irvine sluggers when the two teams mingle at Irvine in their Orange County Harbor league game tomorrow afternoon?

The largest crowd of the season is expected to be present to get a first hand answer to that question.

Up in the league standing column Arthur Trickey's Irvine team has gone to the front with nine games won to but one defeat on the other side of the ledger. That one defeat was plastered there by Mr. Blaeholder when Irvine and Tustin clashed in the first round of the pennant fight. If he has one of his good days such as that last Sunday when he allowed Garden Grove only a single safety, Blaeholder is liable to do all kinds of things to the Irvine wrecking crew which has hammered almost every pitcher in the league heavily.

The Santa Ana American Legion team will tangle with El Toro at the locals' grounds at the corner of West Fifth and Sullivan streets. The Legionnaires have been coming to the van with a rush and after coping their last two games, including one with El Modena, now are tied with Tustin for third place. A victory tomorrow may place them in third position without the tie. Either Arch Snodgrass or Neal Raney will do the tossing for the locals with Lee Brown doing the catching.

The El Modena outfit, still in second place and an outside chance to cop league honors, will endeavor to do a "come-back" against A. F. Moulton's Van Dien-Young company aggregation of Santa Ana. El Modena has been defeated in its last two starts but figures to shake old man jinx tomorrow and step back in the running. The Van Dien-Youngs have been playing some real baseball of late and a real scrap is expected. Either Brackman or Blocker will twirl for the Orange Pickers. Vic McKenzie will probably do the honors for the local club.

Garden Grove and Newport meet in a game that will decide which team will slip into the cellar. A victory for the Chili Growers will enable them to crawl out of the basement and with Charlie Blaeholder in form they figure to do it. Newport has a scrappy aggregation and a couple of good heavy hitters in Dee Whitney and Honeycutt.

TIGERS FAIL TO GET STAR COLLEGE HURLER

WORCESTER, Mass., Feb. 3.—Owen Carroll, star pitcher of the Holy Cross team has not signed a contract with the Detroit Tigers, according to a wire from President Navin.

PLAN LITTLE BOUT FOR DEMPSEY NOW

NEW YORK, Feb. 3.—With a "big bout" stepped from all ends and the middle, a "little bout" is now in order for Jack Dempsey and it is already being planned. It is announced officially that the New York boxing commission would not stand for a Dempsey-Willard bout, or any other big championship bout, Chairman Muldoon said his opposition was based on the money involved and the over-importance attached to the proceedings.

Dempsey is going to meet some one this summer, that is a certainty and with so much official sentiment against an "battle with what little St. Louis has to offer" he will go through with what will be an ordinary defense of his title.

Several prospects are in sight for this "little bout" but Tom Gibbons is the outstanding one and he will be selected if he wins from Floyd Johnson when they meet in Madison Square Garden on March 19.

INGRAHAM TO COACH
BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 3.—William A. Ingraham, former Indianapolis football star and coach at Williams and Mary College last season, will coach the University of Indiana football team next year.

BRUIN BASKETERS WIN.

GOLFERS CLAIM PAR SHOOTING IS TOUGH JOB OF ALL SPORTS

Knowing that you must shoot par or better in order to win, is the most difficult thing in all sportdom, according to professional golfers. Shooting par is a tough job with nothing at stake, but when such a feat is necessary to win a championship, it is the toughest job in all the world, say the leading golfers.

This feature of play was brought out in the national open last year which was won by Gene Sarazen. After Sarazen had finished with the low score of the tournament, the word was passed that the veteran, John Black, had an excellent chance to beat him. Sarazen simply smiled and replied, "I have already made my low score."

The logic of Sarazen's remark was proved when Black, who seemed certain to beat him out, just failed of the mark.

FULLERTON EASILY BESTS ORANGE FIVE

Glenn Lewis' Aggregation Has Clear Sailing to League Title Tilt

League Standing	W.	L.	Pct.

Anaheim	1	3	.250
Santa Ana	0	4	.000

Yesterday's Results.
Santa Ana, 20, Anaheim 22.
Fullerton 28, Orange 15.

Coach Glenn Lewis' Fullerton high school basketball aggregation today was looking down on the rest of the teams in the Orange league from its perch at the top of the list.

The Fullerton quintet took the lead in the bunting chase last night when it conquered the Orange high school quintet at Orange by the score of 28 to 15. The outcome never was in doubt. The powerful offense of the Fullerton team was too much for the Orange players.

The North County team apparently has a clear road ahead to the championship of the league and the right to fight it out with other league winners for the Southern California hoop title. It defeated its strongest contender without serious opposition.

Jean Arroues, star Fullerton forward, was out of the game last night with injuries. Orange also suffered through the absence of Spencer, forward who has played wonderful basketball for the neighboring city five this year. He was replaced by Johnson, a guard.

Fullerton jumped into the lead from the opening whistle and never was headed. At half time Lewis' quintet was out in front by the score of 18 to 7.

The summary of the melee follows:

Fullerton (28)	Pos. (15)	Orange (15)
Hill (8)	F	(6) Price
Hezmalhalch (6)	F	(6) Johnson
Kraemer (10)	C	(6) Nichols
Shipkey (2)	G	(6) Thompson
Carpenter (2)	G	(3) Murphy

SEAL BEACH SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 3.—At a meeting of the Ladies' Aid at the home of Miss Dyson on Thursday afternoon the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Reed; vice president, Mrs. Stortz; secretary, Mrs. Haskell; treasurer, Mrs. Synder. The work of the last year was reviewed and plans discussed for the future activities of the society. After the business meeting a social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served by the hostesses, Miss Sadie and Miss Amy Dyson and Mrs. B. B. Brown.

The regular meeting of the P. T. A. is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Helmick expected his family from Fresno Wednesday. They will make their home in Seal Beach.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Balze of Hemet, have taken the "Bay Villa" at the Landing.

Mr. and Mrs. Stubbs, who have been here for some time left this week for their former home.

Mr. and Mrs. Dell Carlton, formerly of Seal Beach, have been visiting friends here this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Elliott of Los Angeles, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Smith and helped install a new radio in the Smith home.

Mr. Loftus and baby daughter arrived from Texas the first of the week and will make their home with the Loftus family on Elgath street.

Mrs. Loftus died recently. Mr. Loftus was greeting old neighbors home this week. The McCarvins left here for Westminster and are now in their own home and have a daisy ranch.

Mrs. Julia Mahoney has given the contract for a cottage which Mr. Thompson will build on her Seventh street lot.

USED CAR MAN TAKES REAL ESTATE AGENCY
Harry Warburton, who recently sold the business of the Used Car Sales company, on Broadway, near Second street, now is engaged in the real estate business at San Diego, according to reports received here today.

George T. Calhoun, well known used car dealer, is operating at the location here formerly occupied by Warburton.

LIFE OF BAT BOYS NOT ALWAYS SOFT

BY BILLY EVANS.

Are big league ball players superstitious?

"Take it from me, no class of people in all the wide world are more so."

"The superstition, that seems to fill the system of every player the moment he becomes a big leaguer, crops out in many peculiar ways."

In perhaps no way is the feeling shown to better advantage than in the attitude that the players assume toward the mascot of the team, whose main duty is to bring victory aside from merely looking after the bats.

To the youngster sitting in the grandstand, the job of mascot certainly may appear. Arrayed in a big league uniform, watching a big league game every day and traveling over the country seeing the sights, looks a soft job, the dream of every youngster.

Have Their Troubles.

Take it from me, however, the bat boys have their troubles. Don't believe I will ever forget a conversation I had with Eddie Bennett, mascot of the New York Yankees last summer, while making an over-night jump.

The Yankees were in a slump, had dropped four in a row, everything was going wrong. It so happened that little Eddie Bennett was seated across from me at a table in the diner. We were served at about the same time, and I noticed he ate but little of the food he had ordered.

"Something wrong with the food, Eddie?" I ventured.

"The food is all right, I guess there is something wrong with me," replied Eddie.

"Cheer up, Eddie. The Yankees can't lose all of them," I said with a laugh.

BULLSEYES of BASEBALL

BY BILLY EVANS.

THE WEIRDEST PITCHING I EVER SAW

"Dolly" Gray pitched the weirdest game I have ever seen in major league circles. Gray was a southpaw, and a pretty good one. He came to Washington from the coast and spent his major league career with the Nationals.

Gray turned in his unusual performance against the Chicago White Sox on Aug. 28, 1909, at Chicago.

Gray allowed only one hit—a very questionable one—yet he was beaten 6 to 4. Not an error was made by his supporting cast. How come, you say?

I umpired the game, and can recall the happenings of the unusual game as vividly as if they were just being staged. In the second inning Chicago scored six runs through the medium of one scratch hit and a wild streak on the part of Gray. It is questionable if there is anything to equal it in the history of major league ball.

Gray retired the Sox in the first inning, pitching perfectly. In the second inning things began to happen. Pat Dougherty led off with a high bouncer to Bob Unglaub, playing first base for Washington.

Unglaub jumped after it, the ball struck the top of his glove and was deflected into right field. It was scored as a hit, but I have always thought that Unglaub should have easily handled the ball.

After Dougherty had reached first base, Gray developed a streak of wildness—the most unusual streak I have ever seen. He walked seven men in succession, forcing in five runs. The count was three and two on practically every batter. A couple of out and another base on balls was responsible for the sixth run of the inning.

Joe Cantillon, managing the Washington club, was short on pitchers at the time and let Gray take his medicine. In the next inning Gray recovered control and for the rest of the game held the Sox runless and hitless. Washington staged several rallies and Chicago had a hard time winning 6 to 4.

That game stands out in my memory as the most peculiar ball game I ever worked. Gray, who really pitched a no-hit game, was beaten, 6 to 4, because he developed a streak of wildness in which he gave eight bases on balls in one inning, seven of them in succession—forcing five runs over the plate.

Tie it if you can for being out of the ordinary.

CARDS TRIM TROJANS.
STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., Feb. 3.—Stanford basketball players won the first of the two conference games scheduled with U. S. C. here last night by a score of 29 to 14. The second game will be played tonight.

ANOTHER WELL KNOWN

NEW YORK—Feb. 3.—Announcement by the New York Giants that "another well known pitcher" will be with the team when it starts south, has revived reports that negotiations are being carried for Lee Meadows of the Phils; Burleigh Grimes of the Robins or Jess Haines of the Cards.

"STRANGLER" LEWIS WINS
WICHITA, Kansas, Feb. 3.—"Strangler" Lewis, heavyweight champion wrestler, successfully defended his title here last night by defeating Allen Eustace in straight falls.

ANAHEIM WINS COURT TILT, 22 TO 20, AS LOCAL MEN MISS IN FINAL MINUTES

Three times last night a basketball caromed drunkenly around a hoop and fell—the wrong way for Coach Orion Neff and his Santa Ana high school hoopers.

Those three times were in the last two minutes of play when Anaheim was leading by the score of 22 to 20. That's why it hurt. A field goal would have made it a tie. Anaheim won, Poly dropping its fourth consecutive tilt in the Orange league, 22 to 20.

It was a wildly exciting engagement with Poly, off to the poor start, coming from behind in the second half and making a desperate fight to the finish. Virtually all of the baskets made by the two fives were on long distance shots.

Anaheim took the offensive from the outset and playing a short passing game ran up six points on the locals in the first few minutes. Polhman, Mother Colony forward, who has starred in every game his team has played this season, took the leading part in this drive.

Bill Luck gave the Santa Ana fans a thrill next with a thirty-foot shot from a difficult angle. It was the first Poly score and gave the locals impetus to come up and tie the count at six all before the period closed.

The second quarter gave Anaheim its commanding lead and one that the locals could never overcome until the final period.

At half time Anaheim had forged into the lead, the score at that time being 15 to 10. Santa Ana played its best basketball in the third quarter when the local guards effectively stopped Polhman and his Mother Colony offense.

The Poly forwards bore down time after time on the Anaheim goal. At that the six digits scored by Santa Ana in this quarter were either on foul throws by Linsbard or on long shots by Luck. The quarter ended with the teams tied at 16 all.

Few basketball games this year have given the fans more thrills than were offered during the last quarter in the Anaheim gymnasium last night.

First Anaheim, then Santa Ana scored. Always, however, Anaheim had that commanding two-point lead, but it never looked safe for Santa Ana had dozens of splendid chances to tie the count.

It was the last two minutes of play that Poly lost its best opportunities. The locals were on the offensive. They could take the ball through the Anaheim defense and get it right under the Anaheim goal. Long shots were missed.

Twice Luck, standing right under the basket, threw perfectly but the ball shot dizzily the wrong direction and fell to the floor. Golden had one great opportunity just before the final whistle sounded, but he, too, missed.

The game was played at Anaheim because of the flooded condition of the Santa Ana outdoor courts. When the second round of the Orange basketball league began next Friday Poly will have four straight tilts to be played on its own stamping ground.

Glenn Lewis will bring his fast Fullerton team here next Friday afternoon. Polhman with twelve digits led the point-scoring last night. Luck of the Poly quintet was next with ten. Ross, Anaheim, scored eight. Eddie Linsbard made six points and "Beano" Golden added the rest to the Santa Ana total.

The box score:

Santa Ana (20)	Pos. (22)	Anaheim (22)
Bowe	F	(12) Polhman
Luck (10)	F	(8) Ross
Linsbard (6)	G	(6) Wallace
Middlebrook	G	(2) Coleman
Golden (4)	G	(2) Janes

Referee—Ray Walker.

"Tell our friends we are all well and happy and we have been ever since leaving home," was the word received here from Lewis. "We expect to spend Saturday in Douglas, Ariz., arriving in Los Angeles shortly after noon next Sunday. Due in Santa Ana late Sunday afternoon."

Annual Meeting.
Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of the members of the Santa Ana Orange Growers association, of Orange, Calif., will be held at the Packing House of the association in the city of Orange, Calif., on Thursday, the 15th day of February, 1923, at 9:00 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of electing a Board of Directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before the meeting.

SANTA ANA TOURISTS TO RETURN TOMORROW FROM MEXICO JAUNT

After spending three weeks in Mexico, visiting Culiacan, Los Mochis, El Fuerte, Joyanco and other points in the state of Sonora, and Sinaloa, Harry W. Lewis, former president of the Santa Ana Walnut Growers' association, heading a party of Santa Anans, is scheduled to arrive in Los Angeles tomorrow at 1 p. m.

Others in the party, which left Santa Ana for San Blas early in January, are A. M. McDermott, leading figure in the El Fuerte Mining company's operations; John Kettler, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Lasby, Mrs. C. A. Miller, Mrs. Harry W. Lewis and son, Fred, all of Santa Ana, and Miss Eva Freeman of Winfield, Iowa.

PERIL FROM FROST IS BELIEVED OVER

Warmer temperatures predicted by the weather bureau indicated today that the cold wave prevalent for the past three nights had broken. Growers in those districts liable to frost damage were less apprehensive than they have been for several days.

According to E. E. Campbell, official weather observer for the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce and the government bureau at Los Angeles, the lowest temperature of last night was 43. It was 45 at midnight and varied around two degrees lower from that hour to 6 a. m. today.

CLUB TO RUN BOATS ON LAKE ELSINORE

Beginning tomorrow, two fine speed boats, the "Miss Evelyn" and "Florence E.", with a capacity of fourteen persons each, will be in daily operation on Lake Elsinore to accommodate members and friends of the Southern California Athletic and Country club, who care to enjoy boating on this famous inland lake which is now part of the country property of the club. It was learned here today.

Few persons really appreciate the extent of this great inland body of fresh water in Southern California, it was stated. A motor trip around its shore lines occupies 45 minutes, for the lake is approximately one and a half by five miles, and it is the purpose of the club eventually to stage boating regattas.

The club has signed a lease with the Elsinore Boat company, an organization affiliated with the H-10 Water Taxi company of San Pedro, for the erection of a boat manufacturing plant at the lake, where all classes of pleasure boats will be built and operated.

MILLINGTON TO VISIT LEGION MEN HERE

Seth Millington, of Colusa, department commander of the American Legion, is to spend a portion of next Wednesday in Santa Ana, at which time he will meet legion representatives from all over the county, it was announced today.

At noon, at St. Ann's Inn, thirty Legionnaires, including officers of Santa Ana post No. 131 and leaders from other posts in the county, will lunch with the commander.

In the afternoon, Millington will go by automobile to Riverside in company with Maurice Enderle, of Santa Ana, who is the department's first vice-commander.

Later in the year, Millington will be here for an evening meeting with Santa Ana post.

there is a warming of the heart,
a reviving of past dreams—"When

But if the song itself is old, there is nothing if not novelty in

"Ebb Tide," adapted from Robert of a man's regeneration through winner and produced a thriller in his film version of "The Hotten-tot," starring Douglas MacLean and Madge Bellamy, which comes to the West End tomorrow for a 5 day engagement.Adapted from the stage play of the same name in which Willie Collier scored his greatest success, the picture is a novel combination of hilarious comedy and tense drama.

The absurd situations in which a horse-leaping yachtsman finds himself when he becomes the accidental hero of a runaway and is mistaken for a famous steeplechase rider of the same name have been developed on the screen with the expertness of the master showman.Just by way of good measure, Ince has filmed a steeplechase which couldn't be included in the stage play, and is a thrilling achievement of daring riding and spectacular photography.From beginning to end "The Hottentot" is crowded with laughs.
Sam's introduction to Peggy Fairfax, with whom he promptly falls in love, is one of the funniest incidents ever screened. The horse-fearing yachtsman has just shaken hands with her when her horse runs away. Sam jumps on the running-board of his automobile to pursue her. When the car hits a rut he is thrown into the air and lights on the back of a riderless horse that has been plunging along in mad fright beside the auto.By sheerest accident the terrified yachtsman on the equally terrified horse manages to pull the girl from her mount before he himself is thrown violently over an embankment and crowned with a flying horseshoe from the violently pawing horse that has just run away.TOMORROW'S ATTRACTIONS

PROPOSED BILL TO PLACE TAX ON GASOLINE IS RAPPED

S. A. Auto Club Man, Agent Both See Measure As Burden On Autoist

DEFECTS POINTED OUT

Senator Would Put 2 Cents Levy on Each Gallon Of Liquid Purchased

The motor vehicle bill presented in the state senate by Senator Breed of Alameda, in which it is proposed to substitute a flat registration fee of $2 for the present registration fee, and impose a tax of two cents a gallon on gasoline, will not meet with the approval of the general motoring public, in the opinion of A. J. Ralph, of the Automobile Club of Orange county, based on his observation of the attitude of those with whom he has discussed the proposed measure.

Ralph said that he could not express an individual opinion, in view of the fact that he had not seen a copy of the bill and did not know definitely what it provided.

Withholds Opinion.

"Newspaper reports of the bill have given only the merest synopsis of one or two of the features and until I know more definitely what is proposed in the measure I cannot say whether I will favor or oppose the bill," Ralph said.

Senator Breed pointed out that under the present registration fee motorists of the state pay to the government $6,500,000 annually. He estimates that a flat rate of $2 for all motor vehicles, plus two-cent tax on gasoline, will produce

S. A. Man Eighth Time Gets Omaha Driver's License No. 1

Lewis A. Betts, floor man at the Cadillac garage here, today was wearing licensed chauffeur's badge No. 1, issued at Omaha, Neb., for the year 1923. He attaches value to it because it is badge No. 1 and because he has had that number each year for the past eight years. He obtained it in Omaha eight years ago and has had it renewed each year, although it has been some years since he resided in that city.

He does not expect ever again to be a chauffeur in Omaha, but it is his intention to renew his license there each year, provided he can invariably procure No. 1.

He says that in Nebraska licenses for chauffeurs are issued by cities and not by the state. He is a close friend of O. J. Jalen, city clerk, and it is by reason of this fact that he has been favored from year to year with the first number of new series. Badges and licenses are issued by city clerks.

PROSPEROUS YEAR IN AUTO MANUFACTURING INDUSTRY FORECAST

The orders already reported on hand in the great steel centers of the country for the raw material that goes into the production of automobiles indicate more eloquently than anything the industry can itself say as to its belief for a prosperous year in 1923.

George H. Hannum, president and general manager of the Oakland Motor Car company, points to these reports as the most basic indication for a large production of automobiles in the present year.

He likewise points to the recuperating farm market as one of the outstanding optimistic signs for 1923.

"The United States Department of Commerce reports," he states, "that the farmers the coming year will have approximately $2,000,000,000 more from their crops than they did last year."

J. W. TUBBS NOW REID COMPANY PART OWNER

Well Known Sales Director Here Joins Forces With Buick Distributors

J. W. Tubbs, member of the city council and well-known automobile sales director, offered the second piece of startling news on Santa Ana's automobile row this week, when he announced today that he had become affiliated with Robert Reid, of the Reid Motor company, in the franchise for the Buick line in the south half of Orange county.

Tubbs has entered actively into the organization with the enthusiasm resulting from being part owner of the business and from confidence in the line of automobiles represented by the franchise.

Joining the two men in the agency enterprise is conceded by their friends to be a big coup in automobile activities in this vicinity.

Plan Corporation

Tubbs and Reid contemplate the incorporation of a company to be known as the Reid Motor company, with capitalization at $100,000.

Preparation of the incorporation papers is in the hands of Attorney H. J. Forgy. It will be a closed corporation and no stock will be offered to the public. As tentatively outlined, Reid will become president of the new organization, while Tubbs will assume the position of vice-president and general manager.

"Opportunity to connect with the Buick agency, offered me by Reid, I considered one of the best business propositions presented to me in my business life in Santa Ana," Tubbs said today.

FAIR MOTORISTS DECIDING FACTORS IN PURCHASE OF AUTO ACCESSORIES, CLAIM

Some of the many automobile accessories which women drivers are buying in their desire to make their individual cars distinctive, according to J. W. Campbell, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the Western Auto Supply company.

Housewives should try our Family Wash Service — Santa Ana Laundry.

Woman is the deciding factor in 90 per cent of the automobile purchases and 90 per cent of the sales of automobile accessories.

That is what experience has taught J. W. Campbell, manager of the Santa Ana Branch of the Western Auto Supply company, who today declared that motorists of the gender sex are just as keen to have their individual machines distinctive as they are in the matter of their personal attire.

"Seeking distinction in her automobile, Milady carefully selects accessories that add beauty and distinction to her car," Campbell said.

Campbell pointed out that flower vases were particularly attractive to feminine eyes, while interior mirrors are not only effective in assisting the fair motorists to keep a vigilant watch on machines coming from the rear but also are serviceable in many ways that a woman uses such an article.

He said that many women have found a gear-shift extension of great value in the driving of their cars.

Other accessories he mentions as being in great demand by women drivers include the monogrammed locking radiator cap, the Pyralin sun and rain visor, driving gloves and gauntlets, bumpers, spotlights, seat cushions and silk curtains.

REO FACTORY PLANS HUGE NEW SHIPPING PLANT AT LANSING

Work on a new storage and shipping building to cost in the neighborhood of a half-million dollars and to have approximately 640,000 square feet of floor space, will be started at Lansing, Michigan, by the Reo Motor company by March 1, according to information received from the Reo factory by Dale and Company, local distributors.

The new building is to be three stories, 577 feet long and 365 feet wide, and will include a train shed which will accommodate 72 freight cars at one time.

It is the plan to use the building for both storage and shipping operations. It will also include the export department, where cars will be prepared and crated for export.

LANTZ FIRM TO TAKE GARDNER AGENCY HERE

Declaring that the Gardner automobile possesses everything a good car ought to have—quality, economy, comfort, good looks and much power—A. C. Lantz, of Lantz Brothers, 417-19 North Broadway, today announced that the firm had taken the local agency for the Gardner line.

It has been several years since the Gardner was represented here and Lantz said that he expected

DEAD-LINE FOR 1923 LICENSE APPLICATION IS SET AT MARCH 1

Motor Vehicle Department Plans to Add Penalty On Tardy Motorists

ESTABLISH 4 OFFICES

Main Branch at Sacramento Only One Through Which To Order By Mail

Mr. Motorist—

You have just twenty-five days more in which to file your application for your 1923 license certificate and number plate.

A penalty will be added if you make application for renewal after March 1—

Unless Will H. Marsh, new superintendent of the state motor vehicle department, relents and extends the period.

Marsh, however, has repeatedly declared since assuming charge of the department, that persons who apply for licenses after the deadline date, March 1, must suffer the penalty.

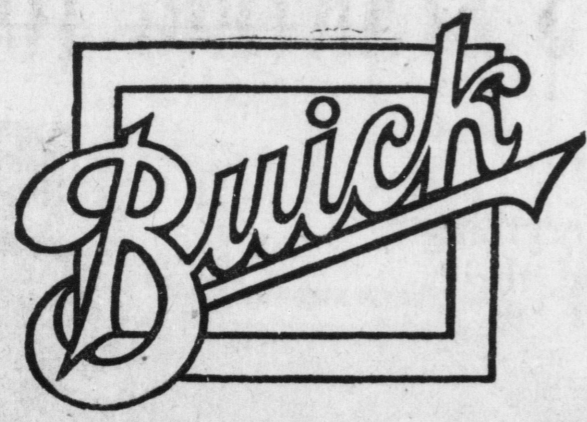

Marsh does not promise that certificates and plates will follow immediately the receipt of applications. It is conceded that this is an impossibility, unless the office force is increased, and this is not likely, in view of the policy of retrenchment adopted by the department manager.

The superintendent declared that 816,446 registrations were made for the 1922 license year which ended last Wednesday. It is pointed out that virtually all of these will have to be renewed.

The greater majority of these will be handled through the office at Sacramento, according to expectations. Branches at Fresno, Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco will take care of a large number, but it is pointed out that these offices will handle only such business as may be transacted over the counter. No mail applications are filed by the branches.

Declaring that applications for 1923 registrations already are pouring into his office at Sacramento in large numbers, Marsh today further emphasized previous statements that it is not necessary for residents of any city in which there is a branch to make an application in that city.

In pointing out the simplest method for renewal of licenses, Marsh said that all that is necessary is for a car owner to secure the certificate from his car, attach a check and mail it to the Sacramento office.

STATE LIFTS AUTO INSPECTION ACTS

Motorists visiting California from other states will not have to submit their cars to engine inspection as soon as they drive into the state, according to an announcement made public here today by Will H. Marsh, superintendent of the division of motor vehicles.

Visitors will be required to Register, but they will not be compelled to make this one of their first acts after reaching the state.

"The doors of California are to be swung wide open and a welcome is to be extended to every motorist who desires to back in its sunshine," Marsh declared.

"The system of compelling those who enter California's borders to submit their cars to officers of the department for immediate engine inspection, is to be abandoned."

Residents of other states entering California will be asked to register their machines and will be granted an emblem from the state of California showing such registration, upon proper identification. Until they desire to register their machine under the laws of California or transfer it to a resident of the state, engine inspection will not be demanded.

MOTOR CARS IN BIG PER CENT GAIN IN CAL.

Comparing motor registrations in the United States for 1922 with those of 1921, California was exceeded in percentage gain only by the District of Columbia, according to statistics compiled by the B. F. Goodrich company and made available here today.

The gain in the District of Columbia was 37.6 per cent and in California 28.1 per cent. In point of number of vehicles registered in states, California ranks third, with 842,663. New York is first, with 1,002,293, and Ohio is third, with 859,000.

The average for the United States in 1922 over 1921 was 1,757,050, or 16.7 per cent, according to the Goodrich company figures.

In announcing results of its compilation of registration figures, the company says:

"Nineteen hundred and twenty-two was the biggest year the automotive industry has known. Every state in the union shows an increase in the number of cars operated, as opposed to the preceding year. From the standpoint of production, manufacturers enjoyed the biggest year since the inception of the motor car, with 2,576,219 cars and trucks produced."

"There can be no doubt that the motor vehicle is essential to the social and industrial welfare of the country. Today there is one car for every 8.6 people in the country. In the past two years more cars have been produced than were registered in 1916. This enormous growth is unparalleled in any industry."

INSIDE OF BATTERY IS MYSTERY TO MANY

The inside of a storage battery is a mystery to most automobilists, according to Earl Matthews, president and manager of the Orange County Ignition works. "Although the extensive use of the automobile today has necessitated a general all-around knowledge of the elementary mechanical workings of the machine, few people bother to find out what makes the battery do the excellent work it does," Matthews said. "Often it is not until the starter refuses to work and the crank as well, that the automobilist wakes up to the fact that his machine has a battery in it which he has given no care. "Service station men all over the country are united in a desire to educate every car owner as to the inside workings and the proper care of the battery. It is to their interests that car owners should be able to get the maximum use from their batteries."

RUSH PLANS TO CALL GREATER S. A. MEET

Plans were going forward today for inviting all clubs and civic organizations of the city to appoint representatives to a general committee to call a mass meeting of citizens in the near future for discussion of the organization of a Greater Santa Ana club, officers of the Santa Ana Realty board announced today.

A movement for organization of such a club was instituted at a meeting of the board yesterday noon at St. Ann's Inn, following an address of Samuel Koch, of Santa Monica, in which he told of the operations of such a club at Santa Monica.

Frank Pope, president; J. C. Wallace, secretary, and Everett A. White, chairman of the publicity committee of the realty board, were planning to meet this afternoon or Monday to arrange for issuing the invitations.

While the realty board took the initial step in the movement to promote Santa Ana's interests by a campaign of advertising, officials pointed out today that it was a community proposition in which all interested should be centered, rather than to be exclusively in the hands of any one organization.

It is possible a meeting of the general committee will be called within a week or ten days, with the mass meeting scheduled for a date one or two weeks after formal organization of the committee, it was stated.

RAP BILL TO PLACE TAX ON GASOLINE

annually $9,500,000. He asserts that his plan is equitable and that the revenue would come from those who used the roads, as the tax would not be applied for fuel used in tractors or stationary engines. Under the bill, money derived from the gasoline tax would be devoted to the maintenance of state highways.

In the opinion of Robert Reid, of the Reid Motor company, Buick distributor, adoption of the bill would make automobile operation a burden on motorists.

"We need more and better roads," Reid said, "but I don't believe Reid has suggested the best method of securing the necessary money."

AUTO CONSOLIDATION IS COMPLETED HERE

Consolidation of the automobile agencies of H. H. Dale and Charles L. Davis today had been completed and the new organization, known as Dale and Company, was operating at 412 West Fifth street, in the Davis location.

Dale is county distributor for the Packard and Reo machines and Davis represents the Oldsmobile line. Under present plans, Davis will have complete supervision of the repair shop and Dale will assume responsibility for the office management of the company.

CHANDLER STICKS TO OWN AXLE AS LEADER

According to L. E. Carpenter, local distributor for the Chandler and Cleveland cars, the 1923 Chandler line, with its new Pike's Peak motor, new chassis, new bodies and new prices, might be adjudged entirely new. He points out, however, that there is just one exception—the rear axle.

"The Pike's Peak motor already has proven to be the sensation of 1923," Carpenter said. "The chassis is fully up to the standard set by the motor. Yet, with all these changes and improvements, the Chandler uses the identical axle that it brought out in 1922. The reason is that the engineers deemed that it not only was up to the standards set by the new motor and chassis, but that it could not be made any better."

"Out of the entire 1922 production of this unit, there was not a single case of failure, an extraordinary record. This 100 per cent perfect unit is manufactured entirely in the Chandler's own plant."

BARE NEW PLAN TO SELL USED MOTOR CARS

A new plan of merchandising second hand cars will be instituted in Orange county within the next week or ten days, it was announced today.

Those who have studied the plan predict that it will go further toward solving the problems of used car values and stabilizing the market than any other scheme proposed or tried up to the present.

It was pointed out that the new plan will be fostered by an association of the majority of the leading motor dealers of Orange county. It will be carried out by organizing three markets immediately, one each at Santa Ana, Anaheim and Fullerton.

The stocks of used cars of members of this association will be grouped on these markets, according to their price classifications, it was said.

New Plan Outlined

"Not only will the prices of the cars be standardized according to make, model and length of service, but the condition of the cars will be such that the buyers can depend on their getting satisfactory transportation for the amount they invest," a member of the association said. "It will take all of the risk and guess work out of buying used cars in Orange county. Transactions made with the markets will carry the insurance of a reliable association striving to create a clientele of well satisfied customers who will cheerfully and even enthusiastically add to the business by sending in their friends."

"From the viewpoint of the seller of a second hand car it promises even better results. In the past when a man has found it necessary or desirable to dispose of his automobile to raise money, he has found that there was no regular market that would pay him in cash anywhere near the actual value of the machine. This was due to the fact that second hand cars are always facing the probability of a falling market and the dealer in used cars has to protect himself by buying very low and selling quickly before any slump can take place."

Get Cash From Bank

"Arrangements are being made, with every promise of success, whereby the man who wishes to dispose of his automobile can take it to the market, have it listed at its market value by the association and then go to a bank with his receipt and negotiate a loan on the car that will give him needed cash."

"In case he desires to purchase a new car he is assured the top market price for it and his cash is applicable toward the purchase of any automobile offered in the county market. He will no longer have to shop around for the highest bidder for he will get the top bid in the market best equipped to sell his car for him."

"Announcement of the locations of the three central markets will be made within a few days. Interest taken in the plan by bankers and motor car dealers in other sections of the country indicates that the new arrangement will be widely copied and that Orange county dealers of the association will be credited with solving a problem that has been most perplexing to the owner of a used car and the merchant who sells new machines."

J. W. TUBSS NOW REID COMPANY PART OWNER

"While this field has been energetically worked by the Reid organization I believe that there is possibility of still further enlarging sales of the Buick in this territory. In my new position I have added incentive of ownership in the business with knowledge that whatever effort I put forth will be to my own personal gain in a monetary way and increase in prestige of the organization."

"It will be my endeavor to give patrons of the company the very best service possible at the lowest cost consistent with the class of service that will be rendered."

The Gardner five-bearing crankshaft was pointed out as one of the big features of the 1923 models of this four-cylinder car.

"The new 1923 Gardner motor develops 45-horse power," Lantz said. "The motor combines a number of noteworthy features. It has a five-bearing, oil-floating crankshaft, ample piston displacement, long, direct-action connecting rods and full force feed oiling system with gear-driven pump operated from crankshaft. The cylinder head is made detachable from the cylinder block, permitting easy access to valves, pistonheads and combustion chamber."

Factory equipment includes also mite lubricating system, nickel-plated bar radiator cap and motor, Stewart-Warner speedometer, driven from transmission, motor driven horn, spare tire rim, leather robe rail, drum-type head lamps with non-glare lens and nitrogen bulbs and a complete set of tools.

The Gardner line includes phaeton, business coupe, roadster and sedan models.

JEWETT A Thrifty Six Built by Paige

A Real Sedan— $1735 Staunch, Powerful, Easy-Handling!

Jewett is the stoutest car of its size. It weighs 200 pounds more than any other car in its class. This Sedan body has steel panels all 'round—no wallboard-and-fabric makeshift. It is built to ruggedly match the long life of the chassis. The Jewett has a staunchness and dependability never before built into a car of this size—full six-inch frame, rigidly braced; stout Paige-Timken axles; long resilient springs, and sturdy wheels.

You have heard what a masterful performer the Jewett Six is. No car of its size equals Jewett in horsepower. No car within $200 has so much power for its weight. That means snappy performance.

Jewett accelerates from 5 to 25 miles per hour in 7 seconds. Try it with any other car! In traffic, go two miles per hour in high. On the smooth stretch ahead, go sixty. Either is an everyday Jewett pace.

The Jewett motor is high-pressure oiled. A gallon of oil every 46 seconds is forced to all main and connecting-rod bearings at 15 miles per hour. Metal never rubs metal—films of oil defeat friction at every point. Long life, silence, and freedom from the penalties of wear, are assured.

Coupled with this superabundant power, Jewett gives you a degree of driving ease truly delightful. A new clutch and transmission, the smoothest you have ever tried, allow you to shift gears fast as hand can travel. No pause, no clash. And you can drop from high to second at 30 miles per hour! Such perfect mastery of a car was never before possible to the inexperienced.

How pleasantly this Jewett Sedan rides! Relax against the fine, deep, soft, well-shaped seats, and feel this car's comfort. Note the ample space for five; the wealth of closed-car appointments. The Paige-built Jewett is the only moderate-priced six built by a maker of high-grade sixes—today's leader in value!

SOUNDED AT COUNTY Y MEET

"To co-relate the associations of Orange county in a united aggressive effort to increase greatly the vitality and volume of their work with boys and young men, stressing especially Christian citizenship training and co-operation with the churches."

This was the keynote sounded at the annual convention of the Orange county Y. M. C. A., held jointly with the First Christian church here last night.

Business of the county delegates was the first order of the program, which began at 5 o'clock, following which forty men sat at the supper tables served by the women of the First Christian church. Mrs. T. D. Knights was in charge.

M. E. Beck was elected county chairman, with E. E. Campbell, first vice-chairman; J. W. Hargrave, second vice-chairman; J. G. Allen, reading secretary, and W. B. Tedford, treasurer.

Here's County Committee, On the county committee were listed, S. H. Finley, J. A. Cranston and W. B. Tedford, Santa Ana; George C. Woods, Dr. J. C. Crawford and E. E. Campbell, Orange; E. C. Rundstrom, M. E. Beebe and William Sebastian, Anaheim; R. S. Gregory, S. N. Fuller and J. W. Hargrave, Fullerton.

Directors at large were S. M. Davis, Santa Ana; J. G. Allen, Garden Grove; A. H. Moore, Wintersburg; W. L. McKenny, Huntington Beach; George Key, Placentia; Eugene Grist, Greenville; D. J. Campbell, Orange; H. H. Lake, Garden Grove; T. H. Walker, Anaheim, and M. L. York, Anaheim.

George Chessum, county secretary, presented his report of last year's work, and reviewed the organization of the association work on the district plan.

The districts now organized are as follows: Santa Ana, including Garden Grove and Tustin; Orange, with El Modena, Villa Park, and Olive; Anaheim as a community district; and Fullerton, including all the northern county high school district.

To Call For Bids.

R. C. Smedley, building secretary of the Santa Ana "Y," in his report of progress with the plans and specifications of the $200,000 club building to be erected here this year, said that advertising for bids was to begin.

He commented on the voluminous stack of blueprints, and the endless pages of specifications that he had checked with Frederick H. Elye, architect, in order to have them ready for the estimator's keen pencil.

T. P. McKee, community secretary of the Santa Ana "Y," reported that in the Santa Ana district, which includes Tustin and Garden Grove, there were 23 Bible discussion groups or "Y" clubs, with an enrollment of 280 boys.

He commented on the activities carried on as part of the regular club life, such as athletic games, overnight hikes, swimming parties, educational trips and fellowship dinners.

The strong hold of "Y" work in high school circles was brought out by McKee's report, and he emphasized the co-operation of the "Y" and the boys for promotion of the best interests of the schools.

All reports presented dwelt with pride upon the place of "Y" work in the community and of the results that had been attained.

L. A. Man Speaks
George Gleason, religious work director of the L. A. Y. M. C. A., made humans of those paragons of the past in his talk "Hustlers of History."

"Just as much history is being made today," he said, "and it remains for their ustlers to impress their names on history's pages."

Maurice Phillips gave a vocal solo, following music by the United Presbyterian orchestra. The Rev. P. T. Porter gave the prayer. S. H. Finley, president of the city association, presided.

Another opportunity to display their literary talent is offered the high school students of the county in the essay contest that has been announced by the Spurgeon Furniture company in connection with the model home, which has been open for inspection this week at 2675 North Main street.

This home was built by I. J. Owens. It has been furnished completely and is said to be ideally built and equipped as a model for prospective home-makers. The house is open for public inspection today and Sunday, from 1 to 5, and from 7 to 9 o'clock.

Students desiring to participate in the essay contest are requested to register at the model home. The essays are to cover the points of comfort, convenience and beauty in this model home. The first prize will be $15 and a second prize of $10 is offered. These essays are to be left in the office of the Spurgeon Furniture company at Fourth and Spurgeon streets.

OFFICIALS AID FUND TO WAGE LAW BATTLE

Courthouse officials here have contributed $25 to the fund that is being raised to carry on the fight to break the ruling of the supreme court in relation to raising of salaries of deputies during the term of office of the principal of the office, and in relation to the addition of new deputies to a county office.

The fight is being led by officials of Alameda county. Courthouse officials all over the state are contributing to the fund, the request being for $1 from each person interested.

The matter is scheduled to come before the supreme court Monday on mandamus proceedings begun in Alameda. Inasmuch as the ruling of the supreme court was given last October in connection with a case not directly involving the two points at issue, it is believed that the views expressed by the supreme court will be upset.

RAILROAD MAN WILL TALK TO BIBLE MEN

Charles Loran Mason, of the Alaskan railroad, will deliver a 15-minute address on Alaska at the meeting of the Community Bible class at the Temple theater here at 9:25 a. m. tomorrow, it was announced today. Mason is a relative of W. B. Martin, president of the class, and is stopping here on his return to his home at Nome, following a business conference with officials of the government in Washington, D. C. Current events will be discussed by Thomas Vance, 429 West First street, this city. Other features on the class program will be a song service, led by E. J. Hummell; baritone solo by Leon Eckles; selections by the male quartette and a Bible talk by the Rev. F. T. Porter, pastor of the First Christian church. Mrs. Ethel Troxell Thompson will play the pipe organ accompaniments.

TO SELL OIL TRACTS.

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Feb. 3.—Chris Nelson, proprietor of the Square Deal Oil company, together with his bookkeeper is spending the week in Los Angeles while preparations are under way for the resumption of the selling of oil lots on his thirty-acre tract in Wintersburg, on which his oil rig is located.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jardon moved this week to their new home located directly across from the Oceanview school and which has just been completed.

Mrs. Wilfred Lewis spent Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. S. C. Hill, in Santa Ana.

PARK PLANNED FOR FULLERTON WOULD EQUAL BEST IN NATION

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Plans which would create in Fullerton a park which, it is said, would be second to none in the nation and involving an expenditure of nearly $100,000, were being discussed here today by local citizens preparatory to their formal presentation to the city council next week. The preliminary program for the acquisition of the park was given to the council this week by George Seupelt, city park superintendent.

The drawing prepared by Seupelt calls for the transformation of the thirty-seven acres constituting Hillcrest Park into a spot of beauty that will contain all of the requisite of the modern city park and in addition a large number of innovations that would have the effect of creating a distinctive public playground for Fullerton.

Plan Memorial Plunge.

The transformation of the acreage revolves around the creation of a memorial plunge for which plans have already been prepared. To the left of this, facing the main facade of the plunge, it is planned to locate a Greek theater suitable for out-of-door entertainments. The theater would nestle in the shadow of a huge knoll on which there is erected a cross. This cross is now being used for Easter worship and the grounds would be so improved that Fullerton might be made the Mecca annually for thousands of worshippers.

Provide For Drives.

The entire thirty-seven acres, according to the plans, would be criss-crossed with beautiful drives that would wind through the park and be lined at suitable distances with parking places, these drives being so planned that they follow the general contour of the park with the resultant elimination of heavy grades.

MANY HOMES GOING UP AT BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Feb. 3.—Buena Park is moving forward slowly but surely.

The chamber of commerce is working steadily on the new water district for the park in order to put this little town in a way to secure good water and good fire protection.

Call Special Election

The school board has called a special election for the purpose of voting bond for a new school building. A number of new houses are being erected. Clyde Ritter has just finished a new five-room bungalow on Court street and is building another. Mr. Wright is just putting the finishing touches on one of the best and most up-to-date salesrooms, garage and auto repair shops in this part of the county. He expects to enlarge and improve his filling station soon. The Mitchell brothers are rapidly nearing the completion of their new brick garage and filling station.

Jack Golden is building a new bungalow next his store on North Grand avenue.

Mr. Peritt has added a new store to his plumbing establishment.

Pharmacy Improved

Mr. Tiltus has made many changes in his pharmacy and is constantly adding more. He recently added a new electric sign. He is planning a "get acquainted day" in the near future. White enameled stools have been installed at the soda fountain.

Dr. Schofield has had his cottages across from the school house repainted and papered.

The septic tank demonstration held at the Uttenweiler place last Friday was well attended.

Mr. Uttenweiler and son arrived recently from Chicago for an extended stay.

Mrs. Leon Wilsey suffered a relapse this week, but is better again.

Dr. Schofield Director-at-Large.

Dr. J. R. Schofield and Harry Horn attended the meeting of the directors of the Orange county farm bureau Thursday. Mr. Horn is the director chosen to represent this center for the coming year.

Dr. Schofield is the retiring county president and was elected a director at large at the meeting Thursday.

The Buena Park school bus had some difficulty in getting under way Thursday morning. In turning in front of Mr. Sharps place the front wheels found a soft spot and settled down. A truck driver finally came and lent assistance.

The Eastern Star will give an other dance and card party Saturday evening at the Masonic temple.

Wintersburg, Smeltzer

WINTERSBURG AND SMELTZER, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Chism entertained at a mid-day dinner Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. B. A. Farrar of this place.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Baker, two sons and a daughter of Van Nuys were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Chris Nelson. Miss Grace Baker remained over until Thursday at the Nelson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Peavey and Oscar Morgan motored Thursday to Los Angeles with Mrs. Peavey's sister, Miss Echo Bush, who took the midnight train for Oregon.

A Mrs. Shepherd and family of eight children have moved into the John Bartholme house. The family are from New Mexico. Four of the children are attending the Springdale school.

Mrs. Mary E. Clemens, who has been absent in the north for some months, is expected home very soon, according to a late letter sent relatives here. She will return with Mr. and Mrs. John Graham, who have been at Webb Island for some weeks and who expected to return this week. On account of weather conditions it is expected the trip may be postponed.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Due were pleasantly surprised on Sunday by a visit from Los Angeles friends, Mr. and Mrs. Laferty who, with a friend, motored down for the day.

Mrs. Laferty came to bid them farewell as she is leaving at a near date for her old home in Scotland where her mother, who she has not seen for years, resides.

ORANGE COUNTY DIRT TO BE USED IN MAP OF STATE FOR FAIR

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—Citizens of this city and of Orange county will not need to long for a look at native soil if they visit the state fair this year, it was indicated here today with the receipt of a letter from a Richvale, Butte county girl, a student of the high school there. Richvale is near Oroville.

In her letter Miss Bernice Stevenson wrote that "Our school won the first prize at the county fair this year with a map of the state. We have been asked to place a similar exhibit at the state fair next summer and are already at work collecting our material."

The dirt will be supplied.

RETIRE BANKER IS GIVEN GOLD WATCH

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—P. W. Ehlen, who recently retired from the presidency of the Orange Savings bank after serving continuously in that capacity since its organization in 1906, today was fondling a gold watch presented to him by the board of directors of the bank yesterday as a token of appreciation for his long and faithful service.

After a brief speech in which he voiced regrets of the directors in losing Mr. Ehlen's services because of the strain on his health, M. O. Ainsworth in behalf of the board, presented the gift.

JANUARY RECORD OF POLICE DEPARTMENT OF BEACH COMPILED

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—Petty larceny, running into small burglaries, is increasing in Huntington Beach, Jack Tinsley, chief of police, declared today as he made up his report on the activities of the month by the police department.

147 Arrests Made.

His report showed that there had been 147 arrests made by his men in January while in the last month of 1922 there were only 141 persons taken in.

Fines for the month totaled $908, of which amount $219 represented amounts paid by motor vehicle law violators.

Report in Part.

The January report of the chief of police follows in part:

Convictions for violations of motor vehicle laws, fifty.

Convictions for transporting liquor, one.

Convictions for vagrancy, men, fourteen; women, four.

Held for investigation, twenty.

Intoxicated, seventeen.

Disturbing the peace, four.

Deserter from George Junior republic, one.

Non-support, one.

Juvenile delinquents, one.

Driving while intoxicated, one.

Vagrancy with concealed weapons, one.

Insane, two.

Sleepers, thirty-three.

SECURITY IS FELT BY TALBERT RANCHERS

TALBERT, Feb. 3.—In spite of the increase of the flow of water in the river channel Friday morning, warning of the approach of a yet greater head of water, a comparative feeling of safety is felt by the ranchers on the lower levels where almost yearly an overflow is experienced during the high water period.

The feeling of security is due to the fact that the river banks here are in much better condition than ever before owing to continuous work of pile driving and dredging crews for months past.

NEW VAULT ARRIVES

COSTA MESA, Feb. 3.—The vault for the bank is being erected. It is of heavy reinforced concrete and is 12x12 in size.

ORANGE BUILDING IN JANUARY DECREASES; DWELLINGS ARE MANY

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—The first month of the new year showed a slump in building here, figures given out by the building inspector today revealed. The figures, however, showed a gain of $5,000 over those of January, 1922.

Decrease Explained.

The decrease was attributed at the building inspector's office to the large totals run up during the last four months of 1922 which never were below $70,000 for a single month and reached a high mark of $97,000.

In January, 1923, permits for building estimated to cost $51,025 were issued while in the same month last year permits were for building to cost $46,000.

The dwelling to be constructed by Eugene Lighthall, estimated to cost $5000, was the biggest single item of building recorded in Orange for the month. Carl Woertz will build a dwelling to cost $2500, E. L. Camp, $3000, W. C. Bullard, Mr. Messinger, two, $3500 and M. C. Wilson, $3500.

W. H. Etheridge estimated that his business building will require an expenditure of $2,000.

ORANGE COMPANY TO WIND LARGE CABLE; FIRM GIVEN ORDERS

ORANGE, Feb. 3.—The largest electrical cable to be manufactured thus far by the California Wire company, only electrical-wire manufacturers in the West, was called for in a $40,000 order placed with the local concern by the Los Angeles Railway company yesterday.

The contract calls for four carloads of special transmission cable to be used on the Los Angeles railroad system.

The cable will be one and a half inches in diameter and will weigh three and a half pounds per foot.

Another large order was secured by the local concern this week in competitive bidding with eastern plants when the Southern California Edison company contracted for nearly 2,000,000 pounds of wire and cable, totaling forty carloads. The order represents $400,000.

NEWLYWEDS OF TALBERT HONORED

TALBERT, Feb. 3.—A reception was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harpster at the home of Mrs. Harpster's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gisler, Tuesday evening. Many friends and relatives were present to offer good wishes and congratulations to the honorees whose marriage is of very recent date.

The home was lovely with an arrangement of potted plants, fern streamers and stately bouquets of poinsettias.

At prettily arranged tables the guests were seated during the refreshment period when ice cream with a delicious assortment of cakes was served.

Centering the brides table was an eighteen inch wedding cake in white, the top of which was a basket, formed by icing and filled with a cluster of fragrant, pink sweet peas, which were guarded by white doves.

The lovely creation was cut and served the guests by the bride.

The evening was spent with music, both vocal and instrumental and many pretty and useful gifts to adorn Mr. and Mrs. Harpster's Long Beach home were presented them.

The reception guests included Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cook of Long Beach, Mrs. Dave Harpster of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Stoffle and son of Anaheim, Miss Andrea Sarabere, Miss Blanche Sarabere, Miss Idonall Conville, of Huntington Beach, Miss Edna Toogood, Long Beach, Harold Johnson, Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gisler, sons, Allan, Julius, Ernest and Leopold and daughter Annie, Huntington Beach; Rene Collins, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gisler and baby, Talbert; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gisler, Greenville; James Sherman, Pasadena; Mrs. George B. Crane, Miss Flotie Crane and S. J. Crane, Miss Lorene Culver, Miss Atheline Culver, Wintersburg; the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gisler and daughters, the Misses Agnes and Lucille and sons, Tom and Harold Gisler.

CONTRACT IS LET BY PACKING FIRM

PLACENTIA, Feb. 3.—The contract for the construction of the new packing house to be erected here for the Randolph Marketing company was let to C. H. Landreth of La Habra and Placentia, in accordance with a policy consistently followed by the Randolph company of giving the preference in all cases to local men.

Materials have already been ordered, and actual construction will be started as soon as the weather will permit. The Randolph packing house will be located east and adjacent to the Santa Fe station and will be of frame construction with the exterior walls of stucco.

AIRMEN IN BATTLE AGAINST ELEMENTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—That an airplane was battling above this city in an effort to keep its propeller into the wind and its wings above ground did not occur to Huntington Beach citizens during a hail storm this week, but that was the case and the two men in the plane have not ceased to tell the story, according to reports.

Aviator Earl Daugherty of Long Beach declared it was one of the bitterest battles with the elements in his flying experience. He was accompanied by Lieutenant Tomlinson of the U. S. S. Oklahoma.

The two airmen flew to San Diego from Long Beach in an hour and forty minutes, but had a thrilling experience on the return trip. In the vicinity of Huntington Beach they ran into the hail storm which visited this section and also encountered a heavy rain storm. So dense was the cloud through which they were flying, the airmen were forced down to within fifty feet of the ground at times.

Bitter cold made it necessary for the two airmen to take turns at piloting.

ANAHEIM BAPTISTS BUY CHURCH GROUND

ANAHEIM, Feb. 3.—Although the Calvary Baptist church of this city has purchased property on South Citron and Broadway streets for a consideration of $10,500, construction of the new church will not begin until fall, it was announced. The site is 90x130 feet.

The church was organized here only last July and the present pastor, Rev. Samuel Gott, took charge January 1. Since his arrival twenty-one people have become members.

FULLERTON BUILDING RECORD IS SMASHED

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—The largest building record ever recorded in Fullerton in January has gone down on the books of E. S. Richmond, superintendent of building.

His books show that during the month permits for building calculated to cost $125,000 were taken out, as compared with $54,000 of last year for the same month. The major portion of the building was residence.

One permit represented a $19,000 structure to be constructed by the Santa Fe Land Development company.

TUESDAY IN ANAHEIM

PAULARINO, Feb. 3.—Mrs. Alex Jamieson spent Tuesday in Anaheim at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hunton. Mr. Beswick of Tustin was a caller at the Paularino school Wednesday.

Ethel Hughes is absent from school this week on account of the pink-eye.

SANTA ANANS IN PAULARINO

PAULARINO, Feb. 3.—Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Cathcart of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Jamieson and daughters, Margaret and Thelma, spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jamieson.

Mrs. J. Paichild is enjoying a visit from her grandmother. She came the first of the week.

SUNDAY AT LEMON HEIGHTS

PAULARINO, Feb. 3.—Marie Wells and Theodore Baker spent Sunday afternoon at Lemon Heights and Hewes park. J. W. Shiffer and J. A. Shiffer attended the Kansas picnic in Long Beach Monday.

Paularino residents are glad to see the rain for there are several fields of new alfalfa and barley in this vicinity.

GARDEN THEATER PURCHASED

LA HABRA, Feb. 3.—F. W. Critcher of Pueblo, Colo., has purchased the Garden theater here from M. J. Webb. Mr. and Mrs. Webb will return to Union, Ore., to operate the two theaters they own there.

JEWELERS DIFFER ON WHETHER OYSTER PEARLS ARE VALUABLE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 3.—I. R. Canady, local jeweler, does not agree with Charles F. Manahan of Pasadena, who was quoted in a Pasadena paper as declaring that never in the history of the United States had a valuable pearl been found in an edible oyster.

Pearls, valuable pearls, have been found in oysters, he declares, although the tiny hard balls found in oysters, he says, are very rarely valuable because of the fact that oysters have been cooked. Cooking destroys the commercial value of the pearls, he added.

Smith Supports Canady.

Mr. Canady is supported in his statement by E. B. Smith of Santa Ana, who shed further light upon the question. Mr. Smith said that the oysters consumed in the United States do very rarely yield valuable pearls but that those of southern and South American waters do give up valuable stones.

In view of these statements it is interesting to notice what Mr. Manahan of Pasadena has to say about the pearls. His statement follows:

"It isn't done—the finding of 'valuable pearls' in table oysters," remarked Mr. Manahan. "Table oysters do not yield 'valuable pearls.' Never, under any circumstances. I do not say this merely of my own knowledge. It is known to every jeweler in America.

"The jeweler's Circular, a periodical of the jewelry trade, stated in a recent issue that in thirty years of observation and investigation of the reports of finding of pearls in table oysters and claims in this country, it had yet to learn of the discovery of one authentic pearl under such circumstances.

"What the various persons reported at various times, from various parts of the country, as finding pearls in their oysters actually find are merely pebbles. Worthless pebbles. The discovery of these pearls begins with September and continues through the 'R' months when oysters are edible.

Fortune on Half Shell.

"Although jewelers are aware that so far as records show no American table oysters ever yield a pearl, the notion that they do flourishes among the public at large. Everyone dwells in happy anticipation of some day, at luncheon or dinner, picking up a fortune on the half-shell, as it were. But they will be doomed to disappointment."

STONES IN STEW AND FAWN COLORED CAKES MISSING FROM HOMES

FULLERTON, Feb. 3.—Gone are the cement colored hot cakes.

Alas, no more stones are found in the Irish stew.

No gentle mantle of fawn colored material creeps down to overcoat the swimming pool of the pet gold fish.

"Them days is gone forever"—as far as Fullerton residents on the south side of Commonwealth avenue are concerned.

The people in that neighborhood have been complaining some time against the "dirty" deal.

But L. Lindauer, the new owner of the La Habra Sand and Gravel company has enclosed the plant in a building which will prevent the noise at and the same time remove the terra firma flavor from the tapioca pudding.

There is rejoicing.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY WATER COMPANY

PLACENTIA, Feb. 3.—H. H. Hale was elected president; J. C. Tuffree, vice-president; L. J. Sheridan, secretary; the First National bank of Anaheim, treasurer, and W. T. Wallop, superintendent, at the annual meeting of stockholders of the Anaheim Union Water company this week. Charles L. Hansen was elected to the board of directors. Royalties amounting to $30,761.50 were collected through oil production on the company's land, according to the report of the board of audit. The board of audit consists of Arthur Staley, W. J. M. Heinz and S. C. Hartman.

SCHOONER YACHT ENTERED IN RACE

NEWPORT-BALBOA, Feb. 3.—The auxiliary schooner yacht Union, owned by Dr. P. H. L. Wilson and John Bowers, of Los Angeles, and members of the Newport Harbor Yacht club, is the first vessel to be entered in the Santa Barbara-Honolulu yacht race to be held this summer. The entry blank of the Union was received by Com. A. R. Peddler, of Santa Barbara Yacht club today.

Notice is hereby given that the annual meeting of stockholders of the Vanderlip Oil company will be held at 114 East Fourth street, Santa Ana, Calif., on the 13th day of February, 1923, at 7:30 p. m. for the purpose of electing directors for the ensuing year and for the transaction of any other business that may come before said meeting. H. C. Vanderlip, Secretary.

MONDAY, FEBRUARY 5

idealistic and sensitive, PHILIPPE DE VILMORIN, divinity student, was filled with horror when he learned of the brutal shooting of the peasant Mabey, discovered poaching on the estate of the great noble, the MARQUIS DE LA TOUR D'AZYR. With his young lawyer friend, ANDRE-LOUIS MOREAU, he appealed for justice to the rough, cool-headed lord, the UNGERLEIN DE KERCADIOU, Lord of Gavrilac, who is popularly believed to be the father of Andre-Louis. The Marquis was present at the interview and Andre-Louis learned with horror that he was suing for the hand of the young and beautiful LINE DE KERCADIOU, the niece of Gavrilac. At the request of the Marquis the discussion of the death of Mabey is continued. There was no question of anything sinister in the Marquis's attitude which made Andre-Louis fear for Philippe.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

"It seems, monsieur, that I must refresh your memory." The Marquis directly faced M. de Vilmorin. "You spoke, monsieur—and you spoke very eloquently, too eloquently almost, it seemed to me—the infamy of such a deed as the death of young Mabey. Justice upon this thieving fellow Mabey. Infamy as the precise word you used. You did not retract that word when I had the honor to inform you that it was by my orders that my gamekeeper Benet proceeded to his deed." "It occurs to me, M. le Marquis, that it is unnecessary to assume any responsibility, that you must believe in some justification for a deed which is not apparent to myself."

"That is better. That is distinctly better." The Marquis tugged delicately, dusting the fragments from the fine lace at his throat. "When I tell you that for months past I, have been annoyed by similar depredations, you will perhaps understand that it had become necessary to employ a man capable sufficiently strong to put an end to them. And there is more in that. It is not the poaching that annoys me so much as the contempt for my absolute and inalienable rights. There is, monsieur, as you cannot fail to have observed, an evil spirit of insubordination in the air, and there is the only way in which to meet it. I tolerate it, in however slight degree, to show leniency, however slight, to the lawless. I am not having recourse to such harsh measures tomorrow. If anything what I have said is still obscure to you, I refer you to the game laws, which your lawyer friend here will expound for you at need."

"Are there in the world no laws but game laws?" he demanded angrily. "Have you never by chance heard of the laws of humanity?"

The Marquis sighed wearily. "That have I to do with the laws of humanity?" he wondered.

M. de Vilmorin looked at him a moment in speechless amazement. "Nothing," M. le Marquis. That is alas!—too obvious. I hope you will remember it in the hour when you may wish to appeal to those laws which you now deride."

"Of your charity, spare me a sermon, M. l'abbé!"

"Of course, monsieur. You laugh. Well you laugh, I wonder, when I present his reckoning to you the blood and plunder with which your hands are full?"

"Revolutionists!" said M. le Marquis, contemptuously. "You have effrontery to stand before my ears and offer me this stinking air of your modern so-called intellectuals!"

It is not I, cant, monsieur. It is not I cant that the feudal grip is on all the best of the very dangerous rift of the grapes in the press, to its own profit. And do you think in your land that France, this Job among nations, will suffer it forever? Do you see nothing of the gathering clouds that herald the coming of the storm? The Third Estate, which you despise, will make an end of this canker of privilege. It is devouring the vitals of this unfortunate country."

"M. l'abbé," said the Marquis, "it is a very dangerous rift of grapes, I can conceive no man being swayed by it. Had you been a gentleman, you would so easily have acquired these views that you express."

M. de Vilmorin stared blankly, comprehending nothing.

"Had I been born a gentleman, you say?" quoth he, in a slow, riddled voice. "But I was born a gentleman. My race is as old as blood as good as yours, monsieur. You have been deceived in that, monsieur."

"Deceived?"

"Your sentiments betray the incoherence of which madame your mother must have been guilty." He spoke brutally affronting words heaped beyond recall.

A dead silence followed. Andre-Louis's wits were numbed. He stood dumb, all thought suspended in the air, all time. M. de Vilmorin's continued fixed upon M. de Vilmorin, as if searching for a meaning that eluded him. Quite suddenly he understood the vile affront. The blood leapt, his face, fire blazed in his genies. A convulsive quiver shook him. Then, with an inarticulate he leaned forward, and with open hand struck M. le Marquis in the face.

It was a flash M. de Chabrilane was his feet, between the two.

Too late Andre-Louis had seen that, La Tour d'AZYR's words were but as a move in a game of chess, calculated to exasperate his opponent into some such counter-move as this—a counter-move that he himself entirely at the other's his face; but he said nothing more. Instead, it was M. de Chabrilaine who showed the taking, taking up the wine, unconcerned part in this village game.

"You realize, monsieur, what you have done," said he, coldly, to Philippe. "And you realize, of course, what must inevitably follow."

M. de Vilmorin had realized nothing. The poor young man had acted upon impulse, upon the instinct of decency and honor, never counting the consequences. But he realized them now at the sinister invitation of M. de Chabrilaine, and if he desired to avoid these consequences, it was out of respect for his priestly vocation, which strictly forbade such adjustments of disputes as M. de Chabrilaine was clearly thrusting upon him.

He drew back. "Let one affront myself," he said, "but I will not do the favor of M. de Chabrilaine's favor. Let that content him."

"Impossible." The Chevalier's lips came together tightly. Thereafter he was suavity itself, but very firm. "A blow has been struck, monsieur. Your action would seem to confirm the assumption that you found so offensive. It does not do that to account render you immune from the consequences."

"I desire no immunity," flashed back the young seminarist, stung by this fresh goad.

"But he does not wear a sword, messieurs!" cried Andre-Louis,aghast.

"That is easily amended. He may have the loan of mine," said Jean, between his teeth. "He insisted, between his teeth, for his friend and indignation." "I hate it," said he, "but I have never worn one, that he is untutored in its uses. He is a seminarist—a postulant, for holy orders, already half a priest, and so forbidden from such an engagement as you propose."

"All that he should have remembered before he struck a blow," said M. de Chabrilaine, politely.

"The blow was already provoked," raged Andre-Louis, "and he recovered himself, though the other's haughty stare had no part in that recovery. 'O my God, I talk in vain! How is one to argue against a purpose formed! Come away, Philippe. Don't you see the rap—'"

M. de Vilmorin cut him short, and flung him off. "Be quiet, Andre-Louis. M. de Marquis is entirely in the right."

"M. de Marquis is in the right?" Andre-Louis let his arms fall helplessly. This man he loved above all other living men was caught in the snare of the world's insanity. He was baring his breast to the knife for the sake of a vague, distended sense of honor due to himself.

CHAPTER IV

Within a few minutes, all arrangements were concluded and that sinisterly intended little group of four assembled in the afternoon sunshine on the bowling green behind the inn.

There were no formalities over measurements of blades or selection of ground. M. de Marquis removed his sword-belt and scabbard and declined—not considering it worth while for the sake of so negligible an opponent—to divest himself of the heels of his shoes or his cane. Tall, thin, and of those that stood to face the no less tall, but very delicate and frail, M. de Vilmorin. The latter also disdained to make any of the usual preparations.

KEEPING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

In Thursday's Register appeared a communication, in "The Public Forum," under the heading, "On City Management," from Mr. L. M. Ballard. This communication was printed without alteration or comment, as a matter of courtesy to Mr. Ballard. However, we feel sure that Mr. Ballard will be glad to have The Register comment on this communication, and indicate certain inaccuracies of statement which it contained.

Speaking of the City Manager, Mr. Ballard says: "He would have the appointment of City Marshal, City Clerk, City Attorney—in fact of all employees of the City."

Of course, Mr. Ballard is wrong in making this statement. The proposed charter provides that the City Attorney and City Marshal shall be appointed by the Council, not by the City Manager. The City Clerk, like the City Council, is an elective office—he is elected by the people, as are also the Treasurer and the Police Judge. Under the heading, "Appointive Officers," the proposed charter provides as follows:

Section 2. "Every other office of the City of Santa Ana, created by this charter, shall be filled by appointment by the Council, unless the power of appointment is by this charter or by ordinance, vested in some other board, commission or officer. All such appointed officers shall hold office during the pleasure only of the appointing power."

Mr. Ballard also says: "I would like to know if any of our banks or business firms would hire a manager to run their business for them and give him power to hire or discharge any one he saw fit to let go."

The answer to that is, of course, that that is exactly what the banks and other large business concerns do. In the first place, no competent business manager for a bank or other big business, or for the City of Santa Ana, could be secured on any other terms. You cannot successfully impose responsibility without giving authority. No business manager can function successfully unless he can "hire and fire." He must be able to pick his own men, fix their compensation, according to the character of the work they are required to do and their ability to do it, and to discharge them if they fail in either integrity or ability.

Another matter in the way of keeping the records straight requires a few words of explanation.

In an editorial in The Register a few days ago Mr. W. L. Grubb, chairman of the Board of Freeholders and former City Councilman, was quoted as saying that, of his own knowledge, a certain piece of sewer work was done by agreement that the City do half of the work and the property owner the other half, and that it cost the city more than twice the sum to do its part of the work as it cost the property owner to do his part of it.

Mr. Grubb wishes it understood that in making this statement he did not mean to cast any reflection upon the present Board of Trustees or any of the present city officers—indeed, that the piece of work to which he referred was not done under the present administration.

If this movement to forbid the wearing of masks in public succeeds, what will be done about the women's complexion?

THE GOVERNOR'S BUDGET

While recognizing that a good deal of the propaganda sent out from Sacramento in relation to economy achievements and projects—some of it without Governor Richardson's sanction—is pure bunk, and without committing oneself to the wisdom of his course in relation to all the items of the budget, credit must be given Governor Richardson for a sincere effort to cut the expenses of the state government.

But just because he has made the effort, is no reason why we should swallow all of the bunk that is sent to us. Witness the oft-repeated assertions in the dispatches sent to the Los Angeles Times by its special writer to the effect that the budget is $12,000,000 less than was Governor Stephens' budget two years ago. The memory of the public is short. Details quickly fade from mind. Only a few, comparatively, remember that the Stephens' budget was $81,000,000 instead of $91,000,000. Yet day after day, the Times' correspondent bases his calculations on the higher figures.

The Stephens' budget was $81,000,000. The legislature passed appropriations of $10,000,000 of which $3,000,000 was not spent. The Richardson budget is approximately $79,000,000. What the total will be when the legislature gets through, nobody, not even the Times' correspondent, can say. Whatever total the budget and the appropriations will make may be used legitimately in comparing a Richardson figure with the Stephens' administration's $88,000,000 or $91,000,000.

However, the Richardson budget for the coming two-year period shows a cut of $2,000,000 from the Stephens' budget for the two-year period now gone by. You will admit that $2,000,000 is quite a sum of money; and the saving of $2,000,000 is well worth while if in, making the saving no harm is done to essential departments of the state government.

An examination of the budget changes as reported in press dispatches leads one to an immediate conclusion that a lot of the slashing has been done in a radical and ruthless fashion. Probably there was no other way by which the governor could make a substantial showing.

Here are a few conclusions that one may reach by looking over the budget changes:

Public health is not as important as automobiles, for the State Board of Health's activities were cut $641,000 and the Motor Vehicle department gets $101,000 more than it did under Stephens.

The maintenance of the state penitentiaries is more important than the upkeep of corrective institutions.

The horticultural and agricultural interests of the state rank along about in the same class with fish and game. Each was reduced between $400,000 and $500,000. The State Department of Agriculture was doing a highly constructive and valuable work for the farmers of the state. Just how badly crippled the department will be cannot be stated at this time, but we do feel justified in saying that it is poor economy that strikes at the development of a department that has proven of such tremendous value to the agricultural and horticultural interests of the state.

To most of the departments that will have to get along with less money the coming two years than they have the past two, no great harm will be done. With others the economy slash will do nothing but curb usefulness. Some of the decreases were fully justified. Others, we believe, were palpably unwise. But wise or unwise, justified or unjustified the electors of the state last August declared for Richardson on his economy platform, and Richardson is doing his best to live up to his promises. But that is no reason why we should fool ourselves as to just what is taking place at Sacramento. That is no reason why we should make $2,000,000 read $12,000,000, and that is no reason to fool ourselves into thinking that a lot of these economy moves, which the voters of the state undoubtedly demanded, are going to work out to their liking. For they won't, at least, most of them won't.

The Mighty Truck

Imperial Valley Press.

To anyone who remembers when it was almost impossible to persuade a business man to substitute a motor truck for horses and wagons, the record of the truck for the past year is a revelation.

More than 1,250,000 trucks have been in use, and they have hauled about one and a half billion tons of freight. That is more than 1,000 tons a year for the average truck—an impressive fact, when you remember that most trucks are small.

They have done most of the local hauling and deliveries in cities. They have been of tremendous service in getting farm products to market. They have been invaluable in the oil, copper, lead and zinc industries, actually transporting 70 per cent of products from the mines and materials to the mines. They are used more and more in the coal industry.

As an adjunct to the railroads, however, unwelcome in theory, the truck has probably saved the country from a disastrous breakdown of transportation. In one city, Cincinnati, where careful observation was made, it was found that the use of trucks eliminated 300,000 "switching cuts," released 66,000 cars for other work and advanced the average, freight-movement 52 hours.

All of which is very fine. And now that fitting tribute has been paid to the merits of this modern juggernaut, it remains to suggest that as a rule, city pavements and country roads have not yet been made strong enough for the heavy truck traffic, and the truck is not yet paying its proper share toward the construction and maintenance of adequate paving.

The Bifurcated Session

Fresno Republican

It is reported from Sacramento that members of the legislature are persuaded that the bifurcated session system is a failure and therefore an unnecessary expense to the state. Accordingly, it is proposed to submit to the People a constitutional amendment abolishing it.

The bifurcated session may be a failure. But it will hardly do to abolish it without taking into due consideration the reasons that caused it to be created. These reasons are just as wrong as ever. They must be considered, and if possible met.

It will be remembered that for many years Senator Caminetti of Amador county, one of the most active members of the legislature and most respected, favored the bifurcated session, as a means of compelling more enlightened attention to proposed bills.

Then came a time when the "progressive" element was in control of the legislature, and party politics had virtually disappeared, but most of the "progressives" were Republicans. Caminetti was a progressive Democrat and as active in support of the Johnson program as the Republicans. As a part of the amenities of the time, Senator Caminetti was conceded his constitutional amendment for the divided session, and the People approved it.

The divided session has become almost valueless because disputed and suspicious legislation is rarely introduced in the form in which it is proposed finally to pass it. Bills are introduced in dummy or skeleton form. As they can be amended in committee, except for the title, they can be almost entirely transformed. An entirely harmless bill may be filed, and later very objectionable teeth put into it. Public opinion may pass the harmless bill by, unnoticed, only to find that in the last days of the session an entirely different measure has been put through.

What is wanted is some means by which bills shall be assured debate before they become laws.

Colorado River Project

San Francisco Journal.

One of the subjects awaiting the attention of the present session of the legislature is the matter of the ratification by this state of the interstate treaty recently drawn up by the conference in New Mexico for the control of the Colorado river. Secretary Herbert Hoover has sent a telegram to members of the assembly urging that prompt action be taken and pointing out the danger of delay. The project of the Imperial Valley from overflow is the matter of immediate concern. This great rich farming section, dotted with prosperous towns, which has been carved out of the desert, has already reached a stage of importance that demands adequate safeguards against the possibility of a recurrence of those floods which have threatened it before.

Sixteen years ago the Colorado river broke through its banks and poured its entire current into the Salton sea, cutting a great ravine called New river and filling up the lowest level of the valley. The damage then threatened mostly concerned the Southern Pacific Railroad, which was compelled to move its track repeatedly away from the shores of the rapidly expanding lake. The history of the titanic struggle with the river and its final conquest by the railroad engineers is one of the most dramatic incidents in the history of the Southwest. The damage that was threatened then, while serious enough to call for the utmost efforts of government aid, is tenfold greater today because the development which was then only started has now grown to immense proportions. It is imperative that this fertile section be made safe.

But beyond that immediate concern lies the greater future of the river. There has been outlined in the imagination of man one of the mightiest engineering projects in the history of the world. It is no less than that of impounding the waters of this river in the Grand Canyon and developing it into a veritable River Nile in a new land of Egypt in the American Southwest. While the irrigation features of this plan are vast enough to challenge the enterprise of a new world, it is the power possibilities of the project that claim the most attention.

Shooting the Rapids Again

What is Luxury?

Scientific investigators continue bringing loot from the tomb of Tut-ankh-Amen, king who ruled Egypt thousands of years ago. This loot—estimated to be worth as much as forty million dollars—will go to museums, so the looters are called "archaeologists."

They would be called grave-robbers, even ghouls, if old Tut-ankh-Amen had been buried recently. Time seems to make a lot of difference, black is black one year and white another.

After a person is dead a few thousand years, the atmosphere of respect and reverence vanishes. So it's considered proper to lug forth and display the mummies and treasure found in Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb.

It must please the old gentleman's spirit at that, for he was forgotten and his tomb buried under drifted sands until recently discovered by excavators. His glory lives again.

His tomb had been robbed previously—about 3300 years ago—and resealed by cemetery officials. The robbers left behind a treasure of antiques—beautiful robes, gold-plated furniture, rare vases, etc.

All this was costly in its day—still is—but cost and genuine luxury are two separate things. Many a prospector during the Klondike rush would gladly have traded gold for flour, pound for pound. To a starving man, flour is worth a million times its weight in gold.

From Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb, the scientific looters bring the king's favorite chariot. Stripped of its gold and jewels, it is a plain two-wheeled cart such as the average modern boy would scoff at.

This chariot didn't even have rubber wheels. It must have been decidedly uncomfortable, bumping over cobbled pavements or muddy ruts. It's a safe guess that Tut-ankh-Amen would have traded half his kingdom for one of the flivvers that Henry Ford has made available to rich and poor alike.

The things we consider necessities today would have been dreamland luxuries for the ancient kings. Tut-ankh-Amen's tomb yields a gold candlestick. He had no convenient electric lights, no movies, no hot running water, no ice, no fast trains, no newspaper to keep him informed of far-off doings.

Of course, maybe he enjoyed his life immensely, not knowing the difference between crude services performed by human slaves and the instantaneous services of electricity, steam and other modern scientific slaves.

Enjoyment is largely a mental attitude. And, if we have proper appreciation of our modern conveniences, we realize that each of us is a king, judged by ancient standards.

Worth While Verse

TO MY LITTLE GIRL
Never enough of sunshine!
The skies were seldom blue,
And rosy dreams that beckoned
Would fade like morning dew.
Never enough of laughter,
And gay frivolity,
Until from out the darkness
You found your way to me!

Now in your hair's imprisoned
The sun's elusive gold,
And I, the blue of heaven,
In your clear eyes behold,
My rose of dreams is mantling
Your cheeks, your lips, your brow
You've filled my home with laughter,
And I am happy now!

STOP that TAX LEAK
Know Your Rights and Save Money
By Ewell D. Moore

DEDUCTIBLE BUSINESS EXPENSES

The law allows individuals to deduct from gross income "all the ordinary and necessary expenses paid or incurred during the taxable year in carrying on any trade or business."

This is a broad provision as it stands, but it has been stretched by many taxpayers beyond its actual meaning. To be allowable a deduction must relate to the trade or business carried on; must be "ordinary and necessary," and must be "reasonable." If the total of the allowable deductions for expenses exceeds the gross income from the business the excess of the deductions must be subtracted from gross income of the same year from any other source, and if there is still an excess of deductible expenses, may be carried over and charged against the net income of the succeeding year, under certain circumstances, which will be discussed in another article.

"Business" and "trade" are synonymous and include professions and various avocations. One does not necessarily have to own a business to have business expenses. Employees and agents may have business expenses which are allowable deductions.

No personal expense is deductible, and it is often difficult to draw the line between "personal" and "business" expenses. "Business expenses" includes every necessary item of expense in carrying on business, incurred solely in furtherance of the business.

Items of expense independent of the business, such as the grocer, rent, doctor, life insurance, tailor, are personal and may not be deducted. Cost of transportation to and from work are personal, though obviously many persons are forced to live long distances away from their work in order to save high rents. The law should be amended to allow the deduction of higher rent, or the cost of transportation to work.

Careful Records.

It is sometimes easier, where personal and living expenses are intermingled, first to set apart the purely personal items, and then take up the business deductions. Care and accuracy are necessary if one is to avoid subsequent "check-ups" by internal revenue field agents, and endless explanations by correspondence. Your return may be finally audited at any time within four years—long after you have forgotten the circumstances of any particular deduction.

Every taxpayer, no matter how small his business, including the salaried employee and wage worker, should keep books, and set down all expenses that may be deducted from gross income. Not only will this save you money, but it will be a record to which you may refer as evidence when the government's agent visits you.

Many persons make the mistake of taking deductions for depreciation on their residences, and the cost of insurance and repairs thereon. The regulations forbid this as it is a personal expense.

The most difficult item to apportion between personal and business expenses is the upkeep and operation of an automobile used partly for business and partly for pleasure. If used incidentally for pleasure, that is, on Sundays and in evenings, it may be apportioned two-thirds for business and one-third for pleasure. However, the peculiar condition in each case is usually the deciding factor, and full explanation of such a deduction should accompany the return. (All Western Syndicate)

Resolution

By Berton Braley

My salary commences
To vanish, ere it's earned,
I cannot meet expenses,
Though why, I've never learned.
In spite of how we plan,
We remain in debt and doubt,
We can't explain, nor can we Make it out.

We really ought to flourish,
My income's pretty good,
And yet we scarcely nourish
Our bodies as we should.
Our problem—who shall judge it?
There's just one way, we sigh,
"We've got to keep a budget—
Bye and bye."

Where does the money go to?
It's quite too tough for words,
To think of all we throw to
The little dicky birds.
A bank account we're craving,
Alas the dollars fly!
And we, instead of saving,
Buy and buy.

Some day, when we get to it,
We'll keep a ledger, planned
To show us, when we view it,
Exactly how we stand;
But now—we merely fudge it,
And watch our debts run high,
We sure must keep a budget
Bye and bye.

Community Church

Significant because it is largely due to the initiative of laymen, in the community church movement. Twenty years ago the name was scarcely known. Now there are between eight and nine hundred well-organized community churches in America. Seven new community churches are being launched each month.

While still crude and germinal, this movement has far-reaching possibilities, for it accords closely with the ideal of the Founder of Christianity, and especially with the needs of our village, suburban, and rural life. Its momentum and nationwide extension are evidence that it is not a mere flash in the pan. Already sectional conferences are bringing together its leaders and unifying the movement.

When the Twins left the moon after tucking the moon-man's valentine under his front door, they started toward the earth again to help Mr. Stamps, the postman, with the rest of his mail.

But just as they were passing one of the big bright stars, a voice called to them, "Hello there, Nancy and Nick! Will you please come here a minute?"

"Certainly!" answered Nick, catching hold of a star point to stop himself, while Nancy caught hold of Nick to stop herself.

"Who is?"

"Who was calling?" asked Nick when they had landed and scrambled to the top.

"I was," said the voice, and up ran Little Boy Blue holding an envelope in his hand. "I-I wrote a valentine to Bo Peep," he said, all out of breath, "and I thought maybe you would take it to her for me. It's not very good, but it's the best I can do. I never got very far in school, you see."

"Oh, that's lovely!" cried Nancy. "Yes indeed we will deliver it for you. That's our business now anyway. We are helping Mr. Stamps, the fairy postman, to run his postoffice, and as we are going right past Bo Peep's star, we will give it to her at once."

"Thank you ever so much," said Little Boy Blue gratefully. Nick put the valentine in his pocket, and again he and Nancy wished themselves on their way. The Magic Green Shoes were soon whizzing the Twins through the air like small comets.

Pretty soon they came to Bo Peep's star and gave her Boy Blue's valentine.

"Oh, I'll have to read it to you, it's so pretty," she said happily. So she read:

"Please be my valentine, Bo Peep And help me mind my cows and sheep, If you my shepherdess will be, I'll never sleep, I promise thee, But sit on the hay cock and blow my horn And milk the cows in the early morn."

"Thank you for reading it," said Nancy. "But really we must be going, or Mr. Stamps will think we are late. Goodbye, dear." (To be continued.) (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service.)
